METHODISM.

Quadrennial Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, May 9.—The Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church assembled at the usual hour. After the opening exercises the order of business was taken up.

Rev. Dr. Carrow, of Philadelphia, offered a resolution in favor of so amending the discipline that the quarterly conference shall be the organ of communication with the Bishops in regard to the appointment of preachers. Referred.

Rev. Mr. Cunningham, of Philadelphia, presented a memorial from Elkton, Maryland, praying for the rescinding from the journals of the General Conference the resolutions adopted in 1836, censuring two of its members for making abolition speeches. Referred to the Committee on the State of the Church.

Rev. Mr. Hester, of Indiana, offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Revivals to consider the expediency of incorporating into the law of the Church the stringent and scriptural rule in regard to divorces.

Rev. Dr. Holliday, of Indiana, submitted a resolution asking the Committee on Revivals to incorporate into the Discipline a rule defining what authority shall appoint choristers, employ choirs, and regulate the music of the Church.

A member of Troy Conference proposed a resolution to so amend the Discipline that in the invitation to the Lord's table the words "and have been baptized" be inserted. Tabled.

Rev. A. J. Lyday, of West Virginia, presented a resolution in favor of biennial sessions of the General Conference; also, one in favor of increasing the number of Bishops. Referred.

A number of petitions in favor of lay representation were presented. Referred.

The subject of admission of Southern Mission Conferences was then taken up.

Rev. Mr. Hester, of Indiana, offered an amendment to Dr. Reddy's substitute for the report of the Special Committee. The amendment proposed to consider first the claims of mission conferences of the second class, namely, those in southern States, leaving those of the third class (colored) to be considered and acted upon afterwards.

Dr. H. Wheeler, of North Ohio, then addressed the Conference on the substitute and in favor of the claimants. He showed that the erection of territories into States and the admission of their representatives into Congress was by a process similar to that pursued in this case, and argued in favor of the perfect regularity of the action proposed by the substitute of Dr. Reddy.

Rev. Dr. Porter, of Providence, occupied fifteen minutes with an argument to show that representatives from the South are not legally entitled to seats or votes in the General Conference. He claimed that the General Conference had power according to the law of the church to organize mission conferences, with prohibition as to representation, and that this was done by the General Conference of sixty-four.

ST. LOUIS.

Gen. Sheridan—Presentation to an Editor.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

ST. LOUIS, May 9.—Gen. Sheridan arrived to-day en route for Washington.

Governor Crawford of Kansas also arrived to-day and will leave for Chicago to-morrow.

A number of prominent merchants, especially those interested in the through grain trade and transportation, to-day presented Myron Colney, commercial editor of the Democrat, with a valuable watch and chain, as a testimonial of their appreciation of his efforts in advancing the material interests of the city, and particularly for his advocacy of and action in the inauguration of shipments of grain in bulk to New York and Liverpool via New Orleans. The presentation was made at the Democrat office, where a large number of merchants congregated. Several leading business men of the city matde speeches and much gratification was expressed at the successful result of the new movement. James Cameron of the firm of Gilliat & Co., of Liverpool, was presented and spoke in favor of the New Orleans route for the shipment of Western produce to European ports.

SOUTHERN STATE ELECTIONS.

Constitution Ratified and Republican Ticket Elected in Florida—Official from Georgia.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ATLANTA, May 8.—To General U. S. Grant, Commanding Armies United States:

Colonel Sprague telegraphs that the elections in Florida passed off without disorder. Judging from the partial returns the Constitution was ratified by about three thousand majority, and the Reed ticket, Republican, elected by a small majority.

Official returns have been received in this State (Georgia) from all but one county, show that the Constitution is ratified by and 17,923 majority. Bullock, Republican, is elected Governor by 7,229 majority. The Senate stands twenty-seven Republicans, sixteen Democrats, one doubtful. The House stands ninety-five Republicans, twenty-four Democrats, six doubtful.

[Signed] GEO. G. MEADE, Major-General.

NEW ORLEANS.

Suit Dismissed—Alleged Ineligibility of Newly Elected Officers.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, May 9.—Commissioner Shannon to-day dismissed the suit against Governor Baker on a charge of perjury in taking the oath of office. He decided the evidence produced by the prosecution as having failed in the substantial charg s.

An affidavit has been filed by one of the Registers before United States Commissioner Wells, to the effect that the newly elected Republican Recorder of the First district was not naturalized until after his nomination, and that Conway, Republican, Superintendent of Education, is not a registered citizen of Louisiana, although appearing on the ticket from the Parish of Orleans. The same affidavit states Commissioner Shannon attempted by threats to intimidate the affiant from performing his duty according to his oath.

Murder in New Hampshire.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PORTSMOUTH, May 9.—Mrs. Brown, one of the victims of the murderous assault and robbery at Hampton Falls, died this morning. Mr. Brown survives, with little hope of recovery. Both are over seventy years old. The evidence against Pike as the murderer is conclusive.

Letter from Dr. Livingstone.

Early in April a letter was received in Edinburg from Dr. Livingstone, by a friend of the celebrated traveler. The following are extracts:

COUNTRY OF THE CHIPETA, NOV. 10, 1866.—It has been quite impossible to send a letter coastwise ever since we left the Rovuma. The Arab slave-traders take to their heels as soon as they hear that the English are on the road. I am a perfect bugbear to them. Eight parties thus skedaddled, and last of all my Johanna men, frightened out of their wits by stories told them by a member of a ninth party who had been plundered of his slaves, walked off and left me to face the terrible Mazitu with nine Nassick boys. The fear which the English name has struck into the souls of the slave traders has thus been an inconvenience. I could not go around the north end of the lake for fear that my Johanna men, at sight of danger, would do there what they actually did at the southern end, and the owners of two dhows now on the lake kept them out of sight, lest I should burn them as slavers, and I could not cross in the middle. Rounding the Southern end, we got up Kirk's range, and among Manganja, not yet made slave-sellers. This was a great treat, for, like all who have not been contaminated by that blight, they were very kind, and, having been worried enough by unwilling Sepoys and cowardly Johanna men, I followed my bent by easy marches among friendly, generous people, to whom I tried to impart some new ideas in return for their hospitality.

The country is elevated, and the climate cool. One of the wonders told of us in successive villages was that we slept without fires. The boys having blankets did not need fire, while the inhabitants, being scantily clad, have their huts plastered inside and out, and even the roofs, to make themselves comfortable. Our progress since has been slow from other and less agreeable causes. Some parts have been denuded of food by marauding Mazitu or Zulus; we have been fain to avoid these, and gone zigzag. Once we nearly walked into the hands of a party, and several times we have been detained by rumors of the enemy in front. January, 1867—I mention several causes of delay. I must add the rainy season is more potent than all, except hunger. In passing through the Babisa country we found that food was not to be had. The Babisa are great slave traders, and have, in consequence, little industry. This seems to be the chief cause of their having no food to spare. The rains, too, are more copious than I ever saw them anywhere in Africa; but we shall get on in time. February 1, 1867.—I am in Bemba, or Lobemba, and at the chief man's place, which has three stockades around it, and a deep, dry ditch around the inner one. He seems a fine fellow, and gave us a cow to slaughter on our arrival yesterday. We are going to hold a Christmas feast off it to-morrow, as I promised the boys a blow-out when we came to a place of plenty. We have had precious hard times; and I would not complain if it had not been gnawing hunger for many a day, and our bones sticking through as if they would burst the skin. When we were in a part where game abounded, I filled the pot with a first-rate rifle given me by Capt. Fraser; but elsewhere we had but very short rations of a species of millet called "macre," which passes the stomach almost unchanged. The sorest grief of all was the loss of the medicine box which your friend at Apothecaries' Hall so kindly fitted up. All other things I divided among the bundles, so that if one or two were lost we should not be rendered destitute of such articles; but this I gave to a steady boy, and trusted him.

He exchanged for a march with two volunteers, who behaved remarkably well, till at last hungry marches through dripping forests, cold, hungry nights, and fatiguing days overcame their virtue, and they made off with "Steady's" load—all his clothes, our plates, dishes, much of our powder and two guns, and it was impossible to trace them after the first drenching shower, which fell immediately after they left us. The forests are so dense and leafy that one cannot see fifty yards on any side. This loss, with all our medicine, fell on my heart like a sentence of death by fever, as was the case with Bishop Mackenzie; but I shall try native remedies, trusting Him who has led me hitherto to help me still.

We have been mostly on elevated land, between 3,000 and 5,000 feet above the sea. I think we are now on the water shed for which I was to seek. We are 4,500 feet above the sea level, and will begin to descend when we go. This may be put down as 10 deg. 10 min. South lat., and long. 31 deg. 50 min. 2 sec. We found a party of black half-caste Arab slaves here; and one promises to take letters to Zanzibar, but they give me only half a day to write. I shall send what I can, and hope they will be as good as their word. We have not had a single difficulty with the people, but we have been very slow. Eight miles a day is a good march for us, loaded as the boys are; and we have often been obliged to go zigzag, as I mentioned. Blessings on you all.

DAVID LIVINGSTONE.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that there are no "positive assurances" that Dr. Livingstone is alive, and closes a long article on the African explorer as follows:

In his first journeys he traveled ostensibly as a missionary, in his second in the double character of missionary and Government official. But now he has adopted his true profession as on explorer, and is engaged in a journey which geographical connoisseurs will probably pronounce his greatest. At present it has all the interest of an enigma. The murder is settled and done with, but still there is abundance of mystery left. His last letters were dated more than a twelve-month ago on the shores of Lake Tanganyika. He may turn up at any moment—but nobody can say where. It may be at Zanzibar; it may be at Gondohoro. There is a wild idea afloat that he may be descending some river to the Western coast. He may be detained in a state of complimentary captivity by some barbarious chieftain, being made a show of. We have indeed no positive assurance that he is alive at all. At the same time the delays of African travelling are so constant and prolonged that even if, as is by no means improbable, a long period of time should again elapse without our hearing of him, it would be no proof of a catastrophe. One thing alone is certain, that when he does appear he will have a reception such as even that darling of the British public, the African explorer, has never yet enjoyed.

A GOOD rule is in force on some of the railroads of Pennsylvania, to the effect, that the officers of such roads are clearly forbidden to sell a ticket to or allow intoxicated persons to ride in any of their cars.

The Dead-Broke Brigade.

The first thing that a stranger observes on arriving in Washington is not the White House or the Treasury Building, but the fact that nearly everybody whom he meets is "dead-broke." They ain't to blame for it, many of them. They came here long ago to get some claim through the War Department; or, lured by the ready promise of the "member from our district," made before election, to receive an expected appointment, or to look after the interests of some far away mining company; or to secure a deputyship under a friend, who is also waiting to be "confirmed" by the Senate. The wheels of business at the capital roll slow enough at best, but now the impeachment question has wholly clogged them. No "claims" can be gotten through, and no appointments made or confirmed. There the poor fellows are, waiting and waiting, and getting "broker and broker" every day. There is a small army of them. They sleep in cheap lodgings, eat where it is convenient, and drink every time they are asked,

They sit around at Willard's, or at the Metropolitan, or promenade along the Avenue, which they rarely leave. Occasionally one of them forlornly strolls down to the Treasury Building to see about "that claim," or to the Post Office, in the desperate hope that some one has sent a draft; but they drift back as hopeless as they went. They are good fellows for the most part, good fellows at home, but they are stuck fast in Washington, and cannot get away. They manage in some way to wear clean shirts and keep their boots polished, and it is a great mystery to me how they do it! They bear a worn and anxious cast of face, and only smile, as I said before, when invited.

They watch for a new comer—who is supposed to be "flush," of course—and he is besieged for small loans until he is either broke himself or learns the ways of Washington. A man will sit down and talk to you for an hour about millions of mining interests in Lake Superior that he is there to attend to, and then ask you for the loan of half a dollar, declaring (and truthfully, too, no doubt,) that he is "dead broke." I loaned a man six cents to pay car fare one rainy day, who was collector of an extensive Western port under two administrations. He is waiting to see a friend confirmed for an office of prominence, under which he expects an appointment. Three months of hungry—not to say thirsty—waiting, and nothing yet.—Cincinnati Times.

The Value of Reputation.

The Boston Advertiser sums up the whole case when it says:

"Admitting that the President did violate the law, is it just to turn him out of office, if he merely intended to test its constitutionality?" That depends. A man who has a broad margin of character will find it a protection in trifling breaches of the law. On the other hand, one who has not is sometimes taken at an unexpected moment and disposed of. Sometimes communities are vexed and disturbed by a series of crimes, all of which point to a certain quarter, but the guilty person contrives always to escape legal detection. Now suppose he is actually flagrante delictu, in the very act of—well, abstracting a water melon. Long years of good conduct might and probably would protect another man from prosecution even. But a well known scamp will usually fare hard: the watermelon business will be laid to his charge heavily, and may land him in the house of correction. If Washington, or Jefferson, or Madison should have violated a law for the simple purpose of testing its constitutionality, grave citizens might shake their heads in sorrow and simply protest. But when a President spends his time in opposing suitable measures, indulges in all sorts of improper conduct, and keeps the whole country in a broil, and yet manages to keep within the law—when such a magistrate is caught in some actual offence, men are very likely to take advantage of it and place him where he can do no more mischief.

An Important Distinction.

The London Times looks around in vain for any serious opposition to the disestablishment of the Irish Church. Everybody acquiesces so quietly, even the leaders of the Church of England, that the liberal party are met, the Times thinks, with a "new and unexpected difficulty. It is that great difficulty of having no difficulty to encounter and overcome. There are people who can overcome difficulties pretty well, because they can gather strength, concentrate attention, make a head, and get over the obstacle with something like a rush. But when there is no opposition they are at a loss what to do."

Hence the peculiar embarrassment of the present situation. The liberal party can do as they will. The people bid them go on, and the whole case is in their hands. "It is just one of those opportunities," says the Times, "a man longs for all his life, and is aghast at when it comes, simply because he has to consider, not what he can do—a question which circumstances and opponents greatly help to decide for him—but only what he ought to do, which, of itself, is always a difficult question."

Scofield—Woodward.

At the close of one of the fierce debates which now daily occur in Congress, Judge Woodward approached Judge Scofield, and said—"I expect to live to see this Government fall to pieces." This was uttered with all the hauteur peculiar to Woodward. He spoke it like a fiat, and no doubt he expected at that instant to hear the crash of the dome of the capitol falling on the marble pavement beneath. The supercilious sympathizer with treason was regarded but an instant by Judge Scofield, who, glowing with indignation, at once scathingly replied to Woodward—"AND I, SIR, EXPECT TO LIVE TO SEE THE DAY WHEN YOU ARE AN INMATE OF AN INSANE ASYLUM." Had lightning descended from the brilliant glass ceiling of the House and struck Woodward on the head, he would not have wilted sooner than he did beneath the electrical keenness of Scofield's retort.—State Guard.

THE Boston Traveller says: "To an inquiry how one of the Bank Presidents in this Commonwealth had made his fortune, the reply was: 'Mainly by economy.' When rendering an income return, this gentleman's attention was called to an apparent omission. 'Have you more than one gold watch?' asked the official. 'Not one—a useless expense.' 'Any carriages, sir?' 'I don't indulge in one.' 'A piano I think you have?' 'Sir, I wish you to understand I own nothing that does not draw interest.'"

Fierce Fun.

In Wisconsin there is a town called Oshkosh. It is regarded by the people of that section as a "great place for fun." And if we admit that the local definition of "fun" be correct, its repute is not undeserved. It chanced recently that a minister from another part of the State started to go to Oshkosh. He had gone a few miles on his journey when he was shocked by meeting a man limping along, with the blood running down one side of his face. On being questioned, the man said he had been up to Oshkosh "having a little fun with the boys." Two miles further on, another man was met, with an arm in a sling, a bunged eye, and torn clothing. He told the distance to Oshkosh, said it was a live town, and that he had been up there "having a little fun with the boys." Pondering on these facts, the minister proceeded pensively until he came to a man seated by the side of the road with a sprained arm and only one ear. He was washing the locality whence the other had been bitten off. The minister stopped and expressed his sympathy. The man averred that it was nothing; he had merely been up to Oshkosh having a little fun with the boys. "But," said the minister severely, "what do you suppose your wife will say, when she sees you in this state?" The man smiled a sardonic smile, and putting his hand in his pocket, brought forth a piece of nose, a section of scalp, with hair attached, and a piece of cheek bitten from his antagonist's face, and holding them up to the minister, said: "What do you suppose his wife will say when she sees him?" The minister silently went his way, a sadder and a sager man.

When Murder is Lawful.

General Cole has been virtually acquitted of the murder of Hiscock by the disagreement of the jury. The division was equal, and so stubborn as to seem premeditated.

If the killing of Hiscock was not murder, it is impossible to conceive of any killing that would constitute murder. Cole had bought a pistol and traveled hundreds of miles for the purpose of killing him. He walked into the room where Hiscock was standing, and without saying a word, or giving him a chance to see his assailant, shot him through the head. That was the act.

It is excused—justified by the finding of the jury, on the assumption that Hiscock had been criminally intimate with his wife. Assuming this to be true, the jury in effect says it justifies murder. The law does not say so—it says nothing of the kind. But the jury set aside the law, and decided the case according to their own pleasure.

But the allegation was not proved. There was no evidence to sustain it. A letter of confession was brought forward, but it was not proved even to have been written by the woman concerned, to say nothing of the truth or falsity of its contents. The act by which the murder is excused rests solely on the assertion of Cole. He said that was the reason why he shot Hiscock; beyond that statement there was no proof, or even valid presumption, of its truth. If a man may be acquitted of murder, on his own statement of its motive, without further proof of any kind, laws against murder and trials for committing it would seem to be superfluous.—N. Y. Times.

Foreign News by the Deutschland.

A dispatch received at the Admiralty from Commodore Lambert states that the ball entered Prince Alfred's back half an inch from the spine, struck the ninth rib, followed round the corner of the rib and lodged five inches from the umbilicus, and four inches and a quarter beneath the right nipple, having traversed a distance of twelve inches and a quarter. The same authority says that on March 20th the Duke was able to go on board his ship.

One of the largest and strongest ironclads ever built in England for any foreign government, was successfully launched on Saturday. She was originally built for the Turkish government, but she was subsequently purchased by the Prussian government, to whom she now belongs. She is 6,000 tons, and built to carry no less than twenty-six 300-pounders, all made of Krupp's hammered steel, and all capable of being fired with 75-pound charges, as often as twice a minute. She is expected to go at the rate of from thirteen to fourteen knots per hour.

A WASHINGTON SPECIAL of the 7th says: There is a great deal of active canvassing going on here respecting the Senate verdict on impeachment. The doubtful Senators are undergoing a strong pressure, and the conviction of the President seems almost inevitable.

The War Department is the centre of active political intrigues in relation to the verdict, the Chicago Convention, and Southern reconstruction. Mr. Stanton's star is decidedly in the ascendant just now. He is the only member of the present Cabinet who will be retained in Mr. Wade's Cabinet.

An effort will be made to pass the Arkansas Bill in the Senate on Monday, in anticipation of its signature by Mr. Wade as President.

Within a few weeks, forty new Senators and Representatives from the Southern States will take their places in Congress. Of these, all but five or six will be Republicans. The antecedents of the Democratic members will be closely scrutinized, in order to establish their loyalty.

There is so little doubt of the President's removal, that arrangements are in progress for Mr. Wade's inauguration by the Chief Justice on Wednesday next.

The Effect.

Immediately after the Radical victory in Arkansas the bonds of that State rose very rapidly in the market. Precisely the same thing occurred in Tennessee, and in this State everybody remembers that our bonds were selling below seventy-five before the election of 1866, and instantly after that election jumped ten per cent., and have since risen to 109, with fifteen per cent. back interest paid. Again, in Arkansas the papers at once begin to talk of the prospect of having the long-needed railroads completed, and capital, hitherto unwilling to invest in a State so unsettled, begins to look into its enterprises. Precisely the same result has followed Radical victories in Tennessee and Missouri. In a word, Radical victory means restoration of credit, revival of business, re-establishment of industry, development of resources, building of railroads, order, prosperity and peace.—St. Louis Democrat.

—Intelligence from Newfoundland says the seal fisheries have been on the whole successful. Up to the 28th ult. 250,000 arrived at St. Johns and Harbor Grace. Some casualties are reported. Twenty-four men belonging to the Deer Hound have been missing three weeks.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LORD BROUGHAM DEAD.

LONDON, May 9.—Henry Lord Brougham, ex-Chancellor of England, died at Cannes, France, to-day, in his ninetieth year.

LONDON, May 10—Evening.—Later dispatches from Cannes, France, state that Lord Brougham died easily. He fell into a pleasant slumber, from which he never awoke.

FENIAN RESPITED.

LONDON, May 10.—The case of Barrett, a convicted Fenian, awakens considerable interest. On petition the prisoner has been respited for one week. Further government inquiry will be made.

AUSTRIA.

PERSECUTION OF THE JEWS.

VIENNA, May 10.—Telegrams were received yesterday which state that the persecution of the Jews in Jassey, Baken and other places in Moldavia, has been stopped by the authorities. Those who were compelled to flee from their homes have been allowed to return. The assassins and desecrators of the graves of Jews, who have perpetrated these outrages almost with impunity for a long time, will hereafter be vigorously punished.

GERMANY.

THE NATURALIZATION TREATY.

BERLIN, May 10.—Mr. Bancroft, United States Ambassador, starts to-morrow for Baden and Wurtemburg. His object is to meet the Representatives of those countries and negotiate for the extention of the provisions of the naturalization treaty recently concluded between North Germany and the United States to Baden and Wurtemburg also.

RICHMOND, VA.

Supreme Court Decisions—Memorial Celebration.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

RICHMOND, May 8.—The Supreme Court to-day decided that in debts contracted in Confederate money the amount shall be commuted at the value of the money when the debt matured, and not when contracted. Another decision was given by the same court that note holders of the old banks of the State shall not have preference in the division of assets, but depositors and all creditors share alike.

The memorial celebration took place to-day. 14,000 Confederate graves in the Oakwood Cemetery were decked with flowers.

Gen. Schofield to-day appointed W. B. Payne Mayor of Danville. The municipal officers of nearly all the towns in the State have now been changed.

MEMPHIS.

Steamboat Incendiarism—Negro Killed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, May 10.—The stern wheeler Milbrey, which escaped from the clutches of the United States Marshal and arrived here several days since, was seized yesterday by United States Marshal Bingham, and placed in charge of a negro named Harris. This morning about three o'clock the boat was discovered on fire in two places. The flames were finally subdued after the pilot house and texas had been burned off. The fire in the cabin destroyed the mattresses belonging to the boat and scorched the cabin badly. Loss about $2,000.

A negro barber named Dave Thomas was shot and killed by another named Nipgnater in a row up town.

CINCINNATI.

Base Ball Match—Three Boys Drowned.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, May 9.—A base ball match game between the Cincinnati and Xenia clubs was played at Xenia to-day, and resulted in the defeat of the Xenia, the score being Xenias 13 and Cincinnatis 51. Mr. Lewis King, one of the best players in the Xenia club, broke his leg by stopping and turning suddenly while on the run of a foul ball.

Walter and Milton Perkey and John Crotty, aged respectively nine, eleven and ten years, while playing in Mill Creek bottom below the city this afternoon, ran into a deep sink filled with stagnant water and were drowned before assistance could reach them. Two little girls and a boy had fallen into the same sink during the forenoon, but were rescued.

CALIFORNIA.

Accident at a Fire—Labor Disturbances Ceased.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—At a fire at Post and Jones streets, last night, a frame house fell on six firemen, who escaped with their lives, but were severely burned. During the alarm a little boy was run over by an engine and killed.

No further labor disturbances have occurred. Contractors have resolved to pay one dollar and sixty cents in gold for eight hours and two dollars for ten hours a day laborers.

The Pacific Mail Company have withdrawn their men from Brooks' Island, and will probably abandon it as a coaling station.

Another Duel Near Baltimore.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, May 9.—A duel took place this morning near this city between Col. P. X. Green, of Mo., and Daniel G. Wright, of Baltimore. Both parties were wounded by the first shot, Green in the shoulder, Wright in the leg, neither very seriously. A second shot was insisted on by one of the parties, but objected to by his second, and the affair ended after the first shot, though no adjustment of the difficulty was had.

Fire at Canastota, N. Y.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CANASTOTA, May 8.—By fire the Canastota Hotel was entirely consumed. The N. Y. Central Railroad ticket office, Western Union Telegraph and American offices were located in the building. Loss is $150,000; insured $8,000.

The Impeachment Trial—Speculation as to the Verdict—Release of Fenian Prisoners—Currency Matters.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 10, 1868.

THE IMPEACHMENT.

What the result of the impeachment trial will be is mere speculation. Senators still preserve a studied silence as to how they will vote upon the question. It is not known that they have given even private intimation to that effect. The friends and opponents of conviction outside of the Senate are alternately depressed and elated. Bets continue to be made. Impeachment is the general theme.

RELEASE OF FENIAN PRISONERS.

The Secretary of State has received the following from the British Minister at Washington:

H. B. M. Legation, Washington, D. C., May 9th, 1868: Mr. SEWARD—I give you a copy of a telegram which I have just received from Lord Stanley:

"Nagle, Nugent, Leonard, Lee and Fitzgibbon, having signed a document acknowledging that they came in the Jacmel, and expressing their regret for so doing, have been set free, and were to sail yesterday for America."

Sincerely yours,
EDWARD THORNTON.

Mr. Seward replied as follows:

Department of State, Washington, May 9, 1868:—MY DEAR MR. THORNTON: I thank you for the pleasing information you have given me of the release of the so-called Fenian prisoners Nagle, Nugent, Leonard, Lee and Fitzgibbon.

Very sincerely yours,
W. H. SEWARD.

To Edward Thornton, Esq., &c.

—The receiver of the Rock Island R. R. Co. filed his official bond on Thursday, Jno. Kerr, President of the Broadway and Seventh avenue R. R. Co., New York, being the surety, and justifying in the sum of one million dollars.

—Hon. John A. Logan, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has issued a general order announcing that the 30th of May is designated for the purpose of strewing with flowers the graves of their comrades who fell during the war.

—The New York Herald's Havana special says the case of the American steamers Liberty and Cuba, at Havana, is likely to be an international affair. One of the American sailors, who had been imprisoned in Neuvitas for three years through the neglect of the authorities, had been crazy.

—The police imbroglio which has existed for some weeks past at Louisville, Ky., has not as yet been adjusted. The Mayor and Common Council differ as to the manner of organizing a police force for the city, and both persist in not recognizing the Board of Police Commissioners established by the State Legislature at its last session.

—It is stated that the defalcation in the Hide and Leather Bank, Boston, will not exceed $6,000. Mr. Martin, the cashier, was under temporary arrest, but by consent of the officers has been released and put in charge of a Deputy Sheriff. Mr. A. C. Felton, whose requirements for money were supplied unknown to the Bank officers, is in jail. He failed to meet his obligations and involved the cashier. The credit of the Bank is not affected.

Boston Items.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BOSTON, May 9.—The accounts of James D. Martin, cashier of the National Hide and Leather Bank, are found to have been made up on false figures for some time past and show a deficit of about $100,000. The defalcation is attributed to speculation.

The trial of Joseph A. Boyden and N. Plevus, in the U. S. District Court, for conspiring to evade the payment of the tax on large quantities of spirits, resulted in a verdict of guilty. A new trial is asked for.

A verdict of $3,000 damages was given to-day in favor of Belinda Kibies as the result of her suit against Daniel D. Kelley for breach of marriage promise.

Decorating Graves of Confederate Dead.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, May 10.—This afternoon having been set apart for the decoration of the graves of Southern soldiers at the City Cemetery and Mount Olivet, the ceremony was handsomely performed. The headboards were hung with wreaths, and the graves were strewn with flowers. None were forgotten. The crowd that attended is estimated at ten thousand, the majority being ladies, and the utmost good order and decorum was observed.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE.

"A Life on the Ocean Wave!"
The man who wrote it was green:
He never had been to sea,
And a storm he never had seen.

He had never been aroused
From the morning's gentle doze
By the sound of splashing water
As it fell from the horrid hose!

He had never heard a man
Scrubbing right over his head
With a noise sufficient to rouse
From their grave the slumbering dead.

He had never seen a fat woman
Growing thinner every day,
And leaning over the vessel-side,
And throwing herself away—

While people look carelessly on,
Though in fears the woman may be,
And unfeelingly say it is nothing at all
But the rolling of the sea.

And, oh! he has never been sea-sick,
And crept into bed with his coat,
While every motion increasing his throes,
And his feelings were all in his throat.

—"A June Idyl" by James Russell Lowell will adorn the pages of the next Atlantic Monthly.

—The dead body of a man was washed to shore at Chicago on Thursday, and taken to the dead house.

—There is a regular attendance of 12,000 persons at the large Mormon Tabernacle of Salt Lake City.

—The Grand Army of the Republic is to have a weekly paper devoted to its interests in Hartford, Conn.

—Peter Cartwright, of back woods fame, is lecturing in Chicago on the off nights of the Methodist Convention.

—The Emperor Napoleon sent, as a wedding present to Prince Humbert, a valuable diamond hilted sword.

—The Bateman troupe will perform La Belle Helene and La Grande Duchesse in Philadelphia this week.

—The report of the loss of the second eye of the flesh mountain Romeo is untrue, he still has that eye and uses it too.

—Mrs. O'Donovan Rossa is going to appear as a reader of Irish poetry. Mrs. O'Donavan Rossa is an Irish woman.

—Bishop Potter, of New York, visited the murderer Brown and performed the services for prisoners in his cell last week.

—Mrs. G. H. Lewis "the authoress of Adame Bede, the Mill on the Floss, etc.," is about to publish a poem in one volume.

—A Cincinnati musical society is called "The Orpheans" and about half the time the papers get them printed as "The Orphans."

—London is to have two new periodicals, a weekly, and a monthly, Good Company, and The Oak. Names for such things are fast becoming very scarce.

—Eggs and chickens were not to be found within the limits of the territory of Arizona three years ago, and now they form the chief articles of food there.

—Mrs. Yelverton has not made any money by her American readings. She is now at St. Augustine, Florida, picking up notes for her book about America.

—The Prince Edwards Islanders are much pleased because they have not joined the Dominion; they laugh at their neighbors in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

—Mrs. Ben Wade is reported by Copperhead papers to be preparing her summer clothes for White House wear. We can't see any harm in it if she is so doing.

—Reserved seats are to be sold on New Jersey railroad trains hereafter. This system was always used in the days of stage coaches and will be an excellent thing now.

—A flock of Arctic tern settled down on the lakes in Spring Grove Cemetery in Cincinnati on Wednesday. They stayed all day and devoured a large number of gold fish.

—Mr. Evarts, of the P. C. is a Bostonian, Republican, and a graduate of the Boston Latin School, three things which ought to have resulted in something better than his present situation.

—There is an anti-tobacco club in this State; we are glad of it; it is always a good thing to have that sort of clubs they encourage trade and reduce the prices if they have sufficient influence.

—The consumption of beer is so large in this country that even in Maine a large quantity of hops will be raised this year. Hop raising is, however, hardly yet the Maine business of the country.

—Mr. Stanbery's voice, action and manner are said to resemble those of Henry Clay. It is astonishing what strikingly ugly likenesses of handsome or beautiful things, one sometimes finds.

—Chicago wishes to be known as the chief watering place of America. We hope she shall not be disappointed, for people always rest their strongest hopes and desires on the slightest possible foundation.

—The original King of Pain, who figured here some years ago, died in Cairo some time ago, but an imitator of his has succeeded him on the throne and drives about Boston in an open barouche, drawn by four white horses.

—It is estimated that the poetry called forth in Canada by the murder of McGee equals one stanza for every man, woman and child in the New Dominion. We don't see how they can stan-za much poetry on one subject.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

—The first Sunday School in the United States was established by Ludwig Hacker, at Ephrata, Lancaster county, Pa., in the year 1747; it was kept up until 1777 when the house in which it met was taken to be used as a revolutionary war hospital.

—We never yet heard of a quack medicine which was not considered by some one or other, of established reputation for sense and sanity, as an excellent remedy and just the thing which he or she had long been looking for. The idea of a miraculous specific which will do away with the necessity for doctors, seems to exist in every human brain.

—The fearful lies concerning women in connection with drunkenness and public gambling houses, which appear with such seeming regularity in such journals as the Saturday Review and Round Table are emphatically denied by the women's club of New York and by the Washington correspondent of the Providence Journal, as well as by the higher class of British journals.

—We hear of an anti-tobacco club in the far west, where the young ladies agreed not to walk home from church with any one who used the weed. The young men formed a counter plan not to walk with any girl who would not let them smoke while walking. Next Sunday morning the girls walked home alone. Sunday evening when they came home their hair smelt strongly of smoke.

—Mrs. Browning was not the daughter of a London merchant, but of a private gentleman. Mr. Browning probably is a gentleman, and would, even if he were a merchant, be terribly digusted with any one who should intimate that the two were not compatible, and he probably would be still more disgusted with any one who interfered with his privacy, and yet he troubles himself to make the above assertion about his wife's father.

—Southern politicians do not despair of success in their schemes by diplomacy and cunning, which they were unable to attain by force of arms. Every one—even many English statesmen—understands that Canada must one day drop into the United States. With this idea as a basis, the sharp sighted Southern statesmen have flooded the neighboring Dominion with ex-confederate officers of all sorts, who, by, dwelling among the Cannucks and constantly disseminating their opinions, hope to have a large majority in their favor when the time of annexation comes. This is a repetition of the policy pursued by them in Europe and West Point thirty years before the war.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

—The next regular course of lectures in the Atlanta Medical College will commence September 1.

—Gen. Alexander McRae was buried from St. James Church, Wilmington, N. C., on the 28th, with all the Masonic honors.

—Colonel John Hancock, brother of Gen. Hancock, took charge of the Bureau of Internal Revenue at New Orleans on the 30th inst.

—Shortly after noon, one day last week, a daring thief entered a millinery store in Macon, Georgia, and stole the money-drawer.

—One day last week, in broad daylight, a horse thief dug through the wall of the Davidson county (Tenn.) jail, and made good his escape.

—A policeman in Mobile has been bound over to keep the peace. Had he studied Dogberry carefully he would have kept it without being bound over.

—The Richmond Whig of the 4th brings cheering intelligence of the fruit crop in Virginia. Apricots, peaches, &c., are reported to be in a healthy and flourishing condition.

—On Saturday last, a lot of negroes stole and butchered a fine blooded cow from Captain Turner Sykes, a few miles from Columbus, Georgia, worth $200. The scoundrels have been arrested and lodged in jail.

—The Danville (Virginia) Times has started a report, for the accuracy of which it says it can vouch, viz: That there is a female child near that place only fifteen months old, having quite a large moustache nearly an inch in length.

—The Atlanta, Georgia, Daily Intelligencer thinks that General Meade will have a hard time investigating the election frauds in that State. They are rank and rotten and villainous beyond human conception. So much for carpet-bag reconstruction.

—The Daily Opinion has changed hands, and slightly changed names. An association of printers, under the firm name of John M. Floyd & Co., will conduct it under the name of the Southern Opinion. It will be the exponent of National Democratic doctrines.

—Two convicts in the Baton Rouge Penitentiary, on Monday last, killed a guard and made their escape. A negro under life sentence also made his escape at the same time. One of them, J. H. McCarty, of New Orleans, has since been recaptured. Powell, white, and Johnson, negro, are still at large.

—A woman went into the Battle House in Mobile the other day and stole ten dresses, and various other articles of woman's wearing apparel that it becometh us not to mention, all of which she managed to put on her person and walk away with. She was clearly dressed to kill. She was subsequently arrested, and compelled to disrobe.

—A woman in New Orleans, the other day, who had some real or imaginary grievance in the way of suspecting her husband's fidelity, undertook to whip the destroyer of her peace, and got licked herself; whereupon she raised cain with her husband, and both parties were taken before the Recorder. In the heat of her passion she announced her intention to give the undertaker a couple of jobs that evening, which the Recorder not seeing any necessity for, had her locked up as a precautionary measure.

REGALIA FOR EDWIN BOOTH.—A Boston firm has been engaged for several months past upon some jewels, &c., for Edwin Booth, among which is a crown of Richard III. It is a truly regal affair, being entirely composed of gold and silver and precious stones, including many diamonds. This crown differs in form from the present English crown, but it is believed to be a perfect fac simile of Richard's crown, and has been manufactured at an expense of over $1,000. There is also an elegant collar of the order of the garter, made entirely of gold and silver, and a jeweled cross, spiritus sancti, also a splendidly jeweled sword and dagger, mounted in real stone, the hilt and scabbard being literally covered with brilliant gems.

MRS. D'ISRAELI, at an entertainment given in London, since her husband became Premier, was literally a blaze of diamonds. She wore a head-dress of black velvet, quite covered with clusters of them; and strings of diamonds, kept in their places by emerald and diamond butterflies, fell over the body of the dress.

RIVER NEWS.

The Monongahela river is again receding steadily at this point with ten feet six inches in the channel. The Allegheny is also falling, but the figures indicating the stage of water are nearly obliterated, and, therefore, we cannot accurately give the stage of water in that stream. The weather yesterday was clear and pleasant, and seemingly settled.

We have no arrivals to report excepting the regular packets. The St. Marys, from Cincinnati, was due last night, and will doubtless be found in port this morning.

The Argosy, being unable to complete her repairs, will lie over until Wednesday, her regular day. The New State was also obliged to lay over for the same reason, to defer her departure for Cincinnati and Louisville until to-day.

The Ida Rees No. 2 cleared for Oil City on Saturday evening with a fair trip.

The St. Marys, Capt. T. C. Sweeney, is the regular packet for Cincinnati to-day, leaving promptly at 5 p. m. She is a large and commodious side-wheeler, and in every respect adapted for the trade in which she is now engaged. We hope she will receive, as deserves, a good trip.

The Wauanita, Lorena and Glasgow were advertised to leave St. Louis for Pittsburgh on Saturday. The Glasgow lost her chimneys in a gale of wind while on her way down from St. Paul.

The Ida Rees and Urilda left Omaha for Fort Benton on Thursday last.

A St. Louis telegram, under date of Friday, says: The river has risen about six inches. The Illinois from Peoria down and the Mississippi below Keokuk are out of their banks in many low placos, and several towns on the latter are entirely surrounded by water, and communication with the back country is cut off. The upper Missouri is also rising slowly, and a slight swell is reported at Omaha.

The Little Republican says that the recent rains have flooded the country in all directions. The Saline, Ouachita and Hurricane are all up; so is the Bayou Meto, and the Cadron Fourche, at the foot of the mountain, on the Pine Bluff road, looks a young sea. The river, also, asserting its very full tide.

The Lorena arrived at St. Louis on Wednesday last.

R. C. Emerson, carpenter on the steamer Dubuque, while at work on one of the wheels, fell into the river and was drowned. He had been in the employ of the packet company for fifteen years, and was highly esteemed. He leaves a wife and children in Rock Island.

A letter from an officer on the Lacon, dated at Sioux City, May 1, says: The Lacon arrived here this afternoon; leaves in the morning. River low. Passed Big Horn at Plattsmouth; Yorktown and Ackley above St. Joseph. Have not seen them since. The Success is reported at Sully one week ago; Deer Lodge at Rice's three days since. We will be drawing about 35 inches. We took some freight at St. Joseph at seven cents, Bluffs at eight cents, Omaha at ten cents. It is going to be hard time in getting to Benton.

A St. Louis telegram, under date of Thursday, says: The Wanunita is on the dock repairing. During her late trip to Omaha a log broke thirty-five of her floor timbers. The snag boat De Russy arrived last night, and the Glasgow, from St. Paul for Pittsburgh this morning. Business appears to be slacking off somewhat from the activity that prevailed throughout the spring.

The Memphis Appeal says the Belle Lee and Frank Pargoud will lay up here this season, when the Ohio gets too low, and will enter the Memphis and New Orleans trade next season. Capt. McGill says he built the Belle Lee expressly for the Memphis and New Orleans trade. Several other fine steamers will summer here, including the Richmond and R. E. Lee.

The Dubuque Herald asserts that the Key City had a race with the Andy Johnson between St. Louis and Keokuk, overhauled her, and arrived at Keokuk ahead. That may be easily explained by stating that the Johnson made a number of landings which the Key City did not make.

The Cincinnati Commercial, of Friday, says: Mr. Jas. Rees, the well-known Pittsburgh engine builder, passed through the city yesterday, en route from St. Louis, for home, where he has been looking after the interests of his mountain boats.

The following account of the robbing of a steamboat pilot is taken from the Memphis Bulletin, of Saturday:

The sum of $3,500 was stolen from the house of Mr. Page, a pilot on the river, who resides on Potter row, Shelby street, in the most mysterious manner, a couple of days ago. It appears that Mr. Page had made arrangements to remove his family to the North, and for safe keeping, as she thought, Mrs. Page had deposited under the carpet in one of the rooms. Two days ago, two negroes, named respectively Aaron Mustin and Archie Harris, were engaged to lift the carpet of the room alluded to. They discovered the money, secreted it about their persons, and after their departure it was missed and information given to the police of the robbery. As the money consisted af three $1,000 bills and $500 bill, the attaches of the several banks and exchange offices were put in possession of the facts of the robbery, and requeated to inform the police if any bills of those denominations were presented at their counters by colored men.

Yesterday a colored man visited the banking house of Messrs. Murphy & Cash, and requested change for $100 bill, at the same time laying down one for $1,000. He was detained and word sent to Col. Beaumont, who quickly went to the bank, and the man was interrogated. The information which he gave led to the arrest of the two men above mentioned and the recovery of the stolen money.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adplied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all pipes that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

GOLD closed on Saturday in New York at 140¼, an advance.

THE MEETING TO-DAY.

Let every citizen who is sensible of his interest in the welfare of Pittsburgh, make it his business to attend the meeting to be held, at the call of Mayor BLACKMORE, at Wilkins Hall this afternoon. Every business man residing in any part of the regions drained by the upper Ohio river, who may be casually a visitor in this city to-day, should also be present. The right of navigation, which is constitutionally guaranteed to all, is threatened with invasion by a special and local interest, and in a mode which would practically entail the destruction of the public right. It is a question which concerns the rural districts quite as much as it does the people of these cities, and we trust that this meeting to-day may take such action as will show to our neighbors, down the river, that a million of people do not propose to be stripped of their legal rights without a resistance which they are able, if they will, to make effectual. Let there be a full meeting and a decided and practical expression this afternoon!

HON. S. NEWTON PETTIS, of Meadville, is mentioned as the Radical candidate for Congress from the Twentieth Pennsylvania District.

A. W. CAMPBELL, ESQ., late editor of the Wheeling Intelligencer, is named in connection with the Republican nomination for Governor of West Virginia.

LAST WINTER the Senate appointed a Committee of its members to visit, examine into, and report upon, all Institutions receiving aid from the Commonwealth. This Committee has recently visited all such Institutions in the western portion of the State.

THE new tax bill, to be reported from the Ways and Means, is said to make seven hundred pages, and its consideration by the Representatives is likely to consume at least a month. This consideration impairs its chance for a final passage at the present session.

IT IS NOT improbable that President JOHNSON will send in his resignation to-day. Such a proceeding on his part will not better his condition, as conviction or acquittal must follow the trial, and he cannot escape any part of the odium he has so long invited by any movement of his own at this late day.

AT a quarterly meeting of the Managers of the Dixmont Lunatic Hospital, held on Saturday last, the condition attached by the last Legislature to the appropriation for that establishment, was unanimously accepted. This condition is that the Commonwealth shall be represented in the Board of Managers in proportion to its benefactions.

THE Supreme Court of the Commonwealth has decided that the railroad in Broad street, Philadelphia, must be removed. The Bulletin regards the decision as one of the highest importance in the eyes of all who desire to see Broad street improved, as it involves the removal of the coal yards and other establishments that retard such improvement.

GOLD has advanced to 1,40¼ in New York, owing to the probability of the President's conviction. The events of to-day and to-morrow may drive it up to 1,50, but the advance will be but temporary. We are of opinion that it will decline immediately after the forming of a new Cabinet, to a lower figure than it has touched any time during the past two years.

WE ANTICIPATE for this afternoon the usual Monday's sensation stories from Washington. The reports may not soar to the dignity of an assassination, and the gossips may deny themselves the satisfaction of announcing a revolution or some startling coup in the Johnsonian interest, but we may safely predict about the last week's allowance of treachery, conspiracy and panic. The gullible public is recommended to keep its eyes and ears open accordingly.

THE New York Tribune says: The appointment of Hon. Galusha A. Grow to be Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Pennsylvania indicates that our friends in that State intend to make a strong canvass. If men as eminent as Mr. Grow, and as fully acquainted with the workings of the party, were placed in charge of the campaign in all the States, the vote would be largely increased. Pennsylvania has been rather tardy in getting her canvass open; but now that Mr. Grow has taken command we shall have a splendid fight.

DEATH OF LORD BROUGHAM.

The cable announces the death of Lord BROUGHAM, late Lord Chancellor of England. Born in Edinburg, Sept. 19, 1778, he was in his 90th year. He descended from an ancient Westmoreland family, and was, through his mother, the grand nephew of WILLIAM ROBERTSON, the historian. He was educated at the High School and University of Edinburg, where he was noted for his devotion to mathematics and the physical sciences. Before attaining manhood, he wrote papers on these subjects which commanded great attraction from learned bodies. He pursued the study of Scotch law at Edinburg, travelled on the continent, and was admitted to the bar in 1800.

In 1802 he was one of the select spirits who started the Edenburg Review, and to it he was an assiduous and able contributor for a quarter of a century. In 1803 he published his first volume.

In 1807, having visited London professionally, as counsel in the case of the disputed succession to the Dukedom of Roxburgh, then before the House of Lords, he resolved permanently to settle in England. In 1808 he was admitted to the English bar. In 1810 he entered the House of Commons as member for Camelford, a rotten borough, under the influence of the Earl of Darlington. He soon became one of the most violent and brilliant defenders of the government then in power. One of his first acts was the presentation of a resolution asking the King to take decisive steps for the suppression of the African slave trade. From 1810 to 1812 he was zealously in favor of Catholic Emancipation, reform in the government of India and of abolishing flogging in the army.

In 1812 he offered himself as a candidate for Parliament in Liverpool, against Geo. Canning, and was beaten, but finally got in for Winchelsea. This borough he continued to represent till 1830. In this period he made famous efforts in behalf of popular education and in rescuring charitable institutions from abuses.

After 1830 he was in Parliament as member for other boroughs, and attained the high rank of actual leader of the English people.

On the formation of the Ministry of Earl GRAY, he was made Lord Chancellor, and raised to the peerage as Baron BROUGHAM and VAUX. The dismissal of this Ministry ended his official career.

As an author he was voluminous and attractive, though he produced few works that will retain permanent interest or popularity.

After his retirement he spent a considerable portion of his time in France, where he had an estate.

During the rebellion in the United States, his sympathies were not with the loyal cause.

A man of most remarkable capacities and attainments, he was for many years a conspicuous figure in English politics. Nor was he scarcely less prominent in the domain of literature. In extreme old age, but retaining his mental faculties, he has at last joined the companions of his youth on the other side.

IT IS intimated that Mr. WADE, in the event of his accession this week to the Executive chair, would postpone the appointment of his Cabinet officers for the week that would intervene before the sitting of the Chicago Convention. We presume this intimation to be, like all the other suggestions and rumors which have filled the air for weeks past touching the policy of the new President, entirely without any foundation in fact. There are good reasons for believing that the Senator has made no pledges of this or any other sort, that he has promised no offices, foreshadowed no policy except that of obedience to the laws, or entangled himself by any obligations to any man or set of men whatever. Least of all, would he engage to continue in office, even for a day, the unscrupulous and disreputable cabal who have been not only the ostensible cabinet counsellors of Mr. JOHNSON, but who are, in fact, responsible for much of the mischief with which that man is charged. The country would have just cause to complain of a Senate which should consent, much more if it required, that the new President should be subjected to the necessity of recognizing, even for one or two weeks, these men as his counsellors. The Cabinet which has sustained and abetted ANDREW JOHNSON in his three years' of warfare against the dearest interests of the Republic, richly deserves the impeachment which deposes their chief. The sooner they shall follow him into retirement, the better for the country.

IT IS ADMITTED that Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, is a prominent candidate for the Vice Presidential nomination at Chicago. An absured story was telegraphed from Washington a few days since, to the effect that he had made overtures to Mr. WADE, for some sort of an arrangement in which a conviction upon the impeachment, and the withdrawal by the latter from his position as President of the Senate were to be the respective stipulations. No man of sence placed the slightest confidence in this report. It was intended for the injury of both gentlemen, but failed of its purpose. The one will be President within forty-eight hours, and the other, it is said, goes to Chicago with the support of more or less of the delegates from seventeen States, who will do the best to secure his nomination.

THE National Turn-Verein, or Convention of German Turners, which recently closed its sessions at Boston, adopted a series of admirable resolutions which we print elsewhere. They are faithfully expressive of the principles of freedom and justice for all men, and afford a gratifying proof that this intelligent and numerous class of our citizens will continue, as heretofore, in hearty accord with the great political party which accepts these principles as the basis of true republicanism. The Turners very properly directed a copy of their resolutions to be forwarded to the Republican Convention at Chicago.

RAILWAY GAUGES.

"A number of years ago the Legislature of Pennsylvania passed a law requiring all the railroads built within our borders to be of the narrow gauge, as it is called, or four feet eight and a half inches. This was the gauge of all the leading railroads of this State, while, on the other hand, New York had started out with the insane notion of making her railway connections peculiar and exclusive by means of the broad gauge of six feet; and again, Ohio established a third gauge of four feet ten inches. Pennsylvania was assailed vehemently by both Ohio and New York on charges of narrow-mindedness, selfishness, exclusiveness, &c., all because the State had resolved to adhere to that railroad gauge that had been proven by all the experience of European and American companies to be the true one."—North American.

New York has not, and never had, a law requiring the guage of railroads within that Commonwealth to be of any one width. Nor did its people "start out" with the notion "insane" or otherwise, of "making her railway connections peculiar and exclusive by means of the broad guage of six feet. The New York Central and many of its feeders were in operation some years before a mile of broad gauge road was put down in that State; and the guage of those roads has not been altered. Afterwards the Erie Railway was projected and built, with a broad guage, in which particular it and its affiliants, stand in contrast with the Central and its feeders. The Pennsylvania guage was fixed by law for the special purpose of compelling passengers and freight passing from New York to the West, and from the West to New York, to change cars.

If our contemporary will turn back to its own files, and to the files of other Philadelphia journals, particularly those of the now defunct Sun, during the "Erie Railroad War," it will be enlightened in reference to this matter. It was Pennsylvania, not New York, that was "narrow-minded, selfish and exclusive." If our memory is not at fault, the North American was not then on the liberal side. It now falsely imputes to New York, as a serious blemish, a policy it once urged as specially becoming in Pennsylvania.

It was the gauge-law of this State, among other causes, that stimulated the invention of the broad-tread or compromise wheel—an expedient it is most desirable to avoid, in the judgment of all sound railway men; and the avoidance of which would be facilitated by the repeal of our gauge-law, because Pennsylvania now stands in the attitude of endeavoring to force the railway companies of all other States to adopt its gauge, instead of allowing a common movement towards that which, under all the circumstances, is best.

When tram-roads, the precursors of modern railways, were introduced, each proprietor accommodated the width of gauge to the width of the wagons or carts he had on hand. Hence grew up, most unfortunately, the different gauges now prevailing, and which are serious hindrances to intercommunication. The evil would speedily be remedied, provided State legislation was entirely out of the way, but for the embarrassments and expenses attending the inevitable change in rolling stock. Even as the case stands, a strong tendency towards uniformity of gauge is disclosed.

FRUIT PROSPECTS.

A month or so ago apprehensions were generally prevalent that the fruit crop was seriously damaged, if not totally destroyed, throughout the Northern and most of the Middle States. At the time, we ventured to predict that these forebodings were not well founded, and that the result would show that whatever detriment had accrued was comparatively slight. We based this judgment upon the continuance of dry and warm weather last year until winter had well nigh set in, causing the new shoots to mature and harden, and imparting to them greater power of resistance to the intense cold of the winter; and, also, upon the unusual projection of cold weather far into the Spring, which prevented the buds from expanding so as to be exposed to blight.

Recent trips through portions of New York, the whole length of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and across Ohio to Cincinnati and return, have convinced us that these calculations were not erroneous. The glory of fruit blossoms was all along most captivating to the sight. Perhaps exceptions should be made of places peculiarly exposed; but these were so insignificant in comparison with the whole that not much ought to be abated from a general estimate on their account.

Frosts have fallen for the last two or three mornings, and these may have done mischief, less or more. But white frosts are less harmful than many people imagine. Probably fruit suffers much more from chilling and untimely winds than from frosts. It not unfrequently happens that after the gayest blossoming, followed by no frosts, hopes of fruit are entirely disappointed. The mischief was in the winds. We trust, therefore, even in defiance of the late frosts, that the recent promise of fruit will be kept abundantly to the taste.

THE Democratic Legislature of Ohio, by its recent law attempting to abrogate the right of suffrage guaranteed by the Constitution to all citizens in whom white blood predominates, has prepared the ground for an abundant harvest of litigation by the unjustly excluded class, and hundreds of Democratic election officers will find themselves victimized in damages in enforcing the partizan policy. Judge BURKE, of the Common Pleas of Lorain county, in giving the new law in charge to the Grand Jury the other day, as its terms require, plainly and explicitly instructed that body that the law was unconstitutional. In Muskingum county, last week, a citizen three-fourths white, whose vote had been rejected by the Democratic trustees of his township, recovered against them, under the constitutional provision and its preceding interpretations by the Supreme Court, a verdict with $278 damages. The judicial records of Ohio will be filled with such cases before the year expires. It is in this way that the Democratic party misleads its confiding but ignorant votaries.

PUBLIC PLUNDER.

In addition to the $234,000,000 of bonds which the present Congress is solicited to grant to various railway, steamship and other foreign and domestic schemes, and besides the immense area of the public domain which it is asked to set aside for the benefit of kindred projects, it is now announced that an issue of one hundred millions of greenbacks is also to be authorized before Congress adjourns. We regret to add that the unpleasant feature about these rumors is that each and all of them are quite likely to be based upon some solid foundation of truth. We have but a single remark to make, touching these matters. Whatever Representative or Senator, no matter for his political opinions, shall support by his vote any measure which proposes to add a solitary dollar to the public burthens, nominal or real, or which proposes to strip the Government of any further portion of its already impoverished domain, or which, in the interest of stock-jobbers, would "debauch" the currency by the amount of inflation proposed, will deserve to be marked and remembered as a public enemy; and the Republican, at Washington, who lends himself to any such scheme, at this time, deserves the indignant execration of his party, and will justly incur suspicions of his personal integrity among all honest men.

WE TRUST that the Erie Dispatch will not suffer itself to be responsible for misleading its readers throughout the oil and lumber regions of the upper Allegheny and its tributaries, into the belief that the obstruction of the river, such as is now proposed at Cincinnati, concerns only the city of Pittsburgh. The press of this city protests against the obnoxious project not only because it endangers the prosperity of "great cities," but because it directly and perilously menaces a valuable privilege now enjoyed by the population of the very broad and productive region of country which constitutes the south-western water-shed. If the up-river lumbermen, oil men and colliers have not a vital concern in this question, and are not themselves fully sensible of its importance, we will acknowledge our own inability to comprehend the situation.

There is not the slightest objection in any quarter, that we are aware of, to the erection of railway bridges across the Ohio at all points where such structures are demanded by the public interest. Every citizen of ordinary intelligence recognizes the importance of the railway system, and its just claims upon the public consideration. It is simply insisted that railways crossing navigable streams, shall erect their bridges so as to offer the least possible obstruction to crafts in the channel. Engineers of the widest experience and admitted skill say that spans of 500 feet are entirely practicable and safe, and the river-men are agreed that their own interests would not materially suffer within that limitation. The Cincinnati project, nevertheless, cuts down its spans to 300 feet, within which limit the most experienced pilots say that navigation at the most desirable stages of water is effectually suspended. The question is therefore not of reasonable concessions, but of unreasonable, unnecessary and illegal encroachments.

LETTER FROM CINCINNATI.

[Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, May 9, 1868.

Thirty odd years have come and gone since I first visited Southern Ohio and its metropolis. A vast change is apparent in both city and country. Then the canal system, in the flush of early and successful experiment, was imparting a healthful impulse to settlement, and consequently to all departments of business. Now the State is interlaced with railways, affording facilities for transportation not conceived of in those earlier times, and greatly enhancing the value of lands, whether in towns or in agricultural districts.

I more than suspect that the farmers, well as they have done, have not done as well as they could and ought. In the districts particularly rich by nature, as the Sciota, the delusion that fell upon the first settlers to the effect that the soil was really inexhaustible, has not yet been abandoned, though facts exist which should have dispelled it long ago. In many instances corn has been planted on the same lands for thirty, and even forty or fifty years. The result is that the average yield has diminished from one hundred bushels to the acre to forty-five or below. Conversing on this point with a gentleman of more than ordinary intelligence, he admitted that this was the case, and proceeded to relate an experiment he commenced a couple of years ago and was still prosecuting. He took a field of twenty acres that had been in corn forty-five years in succession. Tradition said that in its virgin freshness this field had produced one hundred and ten bushels to the acre, but for some years before he began his experiment the crops had fallen to forty-five if not to forty bushels. Upon this field he used a sub-soil plow, creating a tilth sixteen or eighteen inches in depth. On this he planted corn, and was delighted to find the yield fully up to the old standard of one hundred bushels to the acre. This experiment he was still prosecuting. In answer to the inquiry, how long he supposed this treatment would avail, he frankly answered, about ten years. Of course, then the soil would be thoroughly exhausted.

The average yield of wheat has fallen off in proportion, at least, and is no longer profitable. This crop has become so uncertain that it is impossible to predict at any time between sowing and harvesting, with tolerable accuracy, what the yield will be. I heard of crops, last year, which averaged no more than seven bushels to the acre; and the opinion was freely expressed that every bushel raised in quite a number of counties must have cost the producer from one dollar to a dollar and a half.

Unquestionably lands long under tillage are more liable to depredations by insects, than fresh fields. But when it is considered that in several European countries the average production has steadily increased for years past, and is still increasing, the conclusion cannot be avoided that there is something radically wrong in a very large proportion of American farming.

What seems to be specially wanting in Southern Ohio is a proper, system of rotation in crops with a free use of clover. These points are at the bottom of all right agriculture, and the constant disregard of them tends necessarily to impoverishment. Southern Ohio is destined to go through a laborious process of recuperation.

Cincinnati is a remarkably fine town. It is solidly built and well paved. For carriage ways much smaller stones are used than in Eastern cities, and to decided advantage beth to horses and riders. The principal buildings, especially those more recently erected, are of cut stone, and many of them of vast size and superior finish. The water supply is bad, being taken from the Ohio, near the city, and not subjected to any efficient process of purification. At the principal hotels, filtered water is served to guests for drinking, which is an improvement worthy of adoption at Pittsburgh.

The suburbs of Cincinnati are delightful, particularly Clifton and Walnut Hills. Very few cities in this country have anything that will compare with the former locality. Nature has done much for it by diversifying the surface, and creating rivulets, and art has turned these natural advantages to the highest possible account.

The city, in common with all large places using bituminous coal chiefly for fuel, is plagued with smoke; but this inconvenience, as at Pittsburgh, tends to the greater adornment of the suburbs. Citizens of wealth and taste, in constantly enlarging numbers, betake themselves and families to the country, and surround their homes with acres of exquisite loveliness. Nor is this a selfish ostentation. The true value of money is in its lawful use; and a successful business man can put his gains to no more wholesome end than in providing a beautiful home. Such homesteads as abound at Clifton, simply considered as an educational force, are equal to an art gallery of immense proportions and cost. The refining influence is not limited to the possessors, but permeates, consciously or unconsciously, the whole population.

Cincinnati is the largest city West of the Allegheny Mountains. Perhaps Chicago has a few buildings of greater magnificence than any existing here; but, on the whole, this city is vastly better built. There are here few or no ephemeral structures, running up, like Jonah's gourd, over night, to perish next day. Moreover, the population here must be materially larger than at Chicago. As to the suburbs, or the residences of their wealthier classes, Chicago can sustain no comparison with Cincinnati.

In business circles much opposition is felt and expressed to the erection of the proposed bridge to connect Cincinnati with Newport. The point of opposition is not to a bridge, but to the smallness of the span, which is such as to interfere with the navigation of the river. What results will flow from this opposition it is useless to prophecy, but an appeal is most likely to be made to Congress and the federal courts- P.

BEWARE

Of that remorseless and insidious destroyer of the human race,

CONSUMPTION.

Check and conquer its advances, lest you fall the victim. When attacked with any of its preliminary symptoms, no matter how slight, be on your guard and promptly use the remedy ere too late.

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP

Is an old, well tried, certain and standard remedy for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Difficulty of Breathing, Pain or Oppression in the Chest or Lungs, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs. Its sure and certain efficacy has been fully tested and endorsed for many years by numbers of well-known citizens in our midst, and their certificates are on record. Have you a cough which has gradually increased from a slight one to one of permanent standing? Lose no time, but procure a bottle of DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP, which will surely relieve you of the dangerous premonitory symptoms and effect a permanent cure. Do you spend miserable days and long sleepless nights of torture and pain from attacks of Asthma or Difficulty of Breathing? Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will act promptly, relieve you, and gradually restore you to your freedom of pain, and sound, pleasant sleep. Are your lungs sore and irritated, indicating inflammation? This is one of the most dangerous symptoms, and should be promptly removed. Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will heal the soreness, allay the inflammation, and restore the lungs to their prestine health and vigor. This Cough Syrup is pleasant and agreeable to take, while powerful and sure in its action. For sale by all Druggists in the country.

BITTERS.

The human stomach seems to require a tonic stimulant. From time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, tonic bitters have been used. Formerly men made their own bitters, and few thought of eating breakfast without first taking their "tansy." Those were days, however, when prohibitory laws were unknown, and, in consequence, liquors were pure. Dealers could then afford to be honest and sell nothing but the unadulterated. Now, however, what with government tax and court fines, poke-berry juice and alcohol must pass muster for "old rye" and "pure bourbon." People have come to fear poisoning more than malarial diseases and dropped their "tansy." Right here is where HOSTETTER & SMITH, of Pittsburgh, have proven benefactors. Years ago they commenced the manufacture of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, laying it down as a rule, that has since been conscientiously followed, to use nothing but the purest liquors, manufactured expressly for them. By strict adherence to this rule they have won public confidence and reaped their reward in a large, profitable and steady business. Their BITTERS is known all over the country. They are the pioneers of the business, and have the largest manufactory in the world. Nor has success in their case, as in too many instances, rendered them careless; their BITTERS is as pure and good to-day as was the first distillation. We heartily recommend them as a tonic.

As a specific for dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, nervousness, general debility, and remittent and intermittent fevers its efficacy has never been questioned.

There are many worthless imitations; we earnestly caution the public against them.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 130 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. JOHN SCANLAN,

Coal Bluffs, Washington Co., Pa.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. Ilst these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

CONGRESSIONAL.

EDITORS GAZETTE: The many friends of Gen. James S. Negley, who are now warmly espousing his claims for the Congressional nomination at the hands of the forthcoming Union Republican Convention, feel much pleased with the position you assumed in Saturday's paper regarding his political and military record. Your course is the more gratifying inasmuch as the communication in your columns, on Friday last, over the signature of "Republican" was calculated to do him some little damage where he is least known. The points raised by that article can thus readily be disposed of by all right thinking men:

It is charged that General Negley's card in soliciting the nomination does not read in the usual way, omitting the words "subject to the decision of the Union Republican Convention." So his announcement read last year. It did not imply then that he meant to run as an independent candidate if refused the nomination. This he proved by promptly, and with decided good grace, acquiescing in the nomination of General J. K. Moorhead, and by contributing largely towards securing the majority awarded that gentlemsn at the polls. His card meant no more this canvass, and it is unjust, to say the least, to accuse him of entertaining any idea of bolting from the decision of the approaching Convention. As he did not do so in the last instance, when heavy pressure was brought upon him to do so, he should now be trusted in any exigency. Gen. Negley's military and political record is above suspicion, and I trust politicians will not again descend to the degrading work of attempting to bring either the deeds of a gallant, self-sacrificing soldier or a faithful, unflinching and consistent partisan, into disrepute. JUSTICE.

THE Collins Company, at Collinsville, Conn., was organized in 1835, and continued the manufacture of axes, &c., at Collinsville, Canton, begun by D. C. Collins and Co., in 1826. The shops of the company are twenty-three in number, and would, if put together, make a building 1¼ miles long and 25 feet wide. The annual consumption of coal is 10,000 tons of Lehigh and 20,000 bushels of charcoal; the number of hands employed is 500 to 800 and the daily product 5,000 tools—axes, adzes, hatchets, sledge hammers, matchets, &c. These mammoth works are supplied in dry weather, with water from a reservoir in Otis, Mass., which covers 1,050 acres, and can discharge through the aqueduct 8,000,000 cubic feet of water in 24 hours.

FOR SALE.

A RIVER BOTTOM FARM OF 76 ACRES, 19 miles from the city, in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the Youghiogheny river, one-half mile from Elrod's Station, on the Connellsville railroad; near churches, schools, stores, &c., in the flourishing villages of Boston and Green Oak. The improvements are a two-story brick house of six rooms, hall and cellar, a good frame bank barn with stabling underneath, and other outbuildings; a well of good standing water at the door, and several standing springs of water on the farm, and an orchard of 700 trees of selected fruits of apples, cherries, pears, peaches, quinces and grapes. This property being located near the line of the railroad, within one hour's ride of the city, makes it very desirable for gardening or a dairy farm; it is also a good and beautiful location for country homes near the city, lying immediately on the river, on the opposite side from the railroad. The West Newton Accommodation and other trains on the railroad afford certain and frequent opportunities of daily communication to and from the city. Will be sold as a whole or in lots of one acre or more, to suit purchasers.

Also, A FARM OF 173 ACRES, situated in St. Clair township, Westmoreland county, Pa., near the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Houston Station. The improvements are a two-story frame house, with six rooms and good cellar, a frame bank barn 40 by 60 feet, and other outbuildings. There is on the place a young apple and peach orchard; 120 acres cleared land, divided into fields of convenient size, a large portion of which are well set in clover and timothy; the residue of said tract covered with good timber. It is well watered and underlaid with coal and limestone, and is convenient to churches, schools, stores, mills and blacksmith shops. A real good bargain is offered in this excellent farm; and with it will be sold all the personal property on the premises, consisting of horses, cows, stock cattle, hogs and poultry, harness, gears, wagon, plows, farming implements and household and kitchen furniture. Together will be sold very low and on easy terms, to a responsible purchaser.

Also, a desirable and very fertile Tract of Land of 158 ACRES AND 25 PERCHES, in Elizabeth Tp., Allegheny county, Pa., on the line of the Hempfield railroad, and one and one-half miles from the Connellsville railroad at Suter's Station. On this farm are 40 acres of superior white oak timber, which alone is now worth one-half the price asked for the whole tract. The improvements are a log house, frame barn, good fencing, and an apple orchard of good fruit. It is well watered and underlaid with limestone and flag stone of a superior quality, with stone coal for the use of the farm.

Also, the best FARM in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., of 250 ACRES, about six miles south of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad at Bolivar Station. The improvements are two large hewed log dwellings; one of the largest and best frame barns in the township; two appie orchards, in good bearing condition; corn crib, wagonshed and other outbuildings. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation; fencing all in first rate order, and the land of the best quality of limestone soil, about 200 acres of which is cleared and the residue of the tract in good timber, such as white oak, rock oak, hickory, walnut and beech. This property will be sold very cheap and on good terms, as the owner wishes to engage in other business. For particulars enquire of IRON CURB AND SIDEWALK.

We desire to call the attention of parties about to widen their sidewalks, according to ordinance, to our Patent Iron Curb and Pavement. The same will be laid in front of the Opera House this week and will speak for itself. The following is an extract from a letter of the City Engineer and Regulator: "I consider it superior to stone, and if laid in Fifth street, will add greatly to its beauty, and I would recommend it to property owners.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, May 9, 1868.

The exports of specie for the past week amounting to over four million dollars, and exceed the payments for interest due May first, and the sales of government gold combined, in consequence, thereof, the market steadily advanced from 139¼, the lowest price of the week to 140¼, and closed at 140⅛. The increased demand for specie for shipment to Europe and the small stock of bullion in the country, together with the ease of the meney market, offers every facility to advance the premium on gold independent of the political staie of affairs. Imports are on the increase in fear of the further issue of currency, whilst our exports are very light, and must necessarily decrease, under high prices of labor. Western Europe would need our surplus produce, but only at a rate lower than we are able to furnish it. A great drawback to specie payments, or, at least, the lowering of the premium are the large amounts of money expended in foreign countries by pleasure seekers. The late war has created a class of rich people who never used to be the possessors of riches, and are, therefore, more prodigal and lavish with their newly acquired wealth. Nothing but an abundant crop and high prices in Europe will bring our currency nearer specie value, even a reduction in the present value of greenbacks would not alter their relation to specie.

Railroad shares were firm without any advance until after 3 p. m., when Fort Wayne advanced ½ and the entire list of Western shares from ¼ to ½ per cent. Mining shares are dull and unaltered, but the improved method of separating the gold at a small expense, and the facility of carrying on Mining operations with less machinery, will bring out most of the companies now almost worthless.

Business is rather dull, and though there seems to be some activity, the volume is scarcely one-third of what was doing in former years. Money is scarce here at 10 per cent.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

Gold, 140¼; 1881 bonds, 113¾; 1862 5-20s, 109; 1864 do, 107¼; 1865 do, 107¾; Consols, 109½; 10-40s, 103¼; 7-30s, 107½.

Railroads—Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 84¼; Fort Wayne, 107⅜; North Western, common 66¼; North Western—preferred, 76¾; New York Central, 128¼; Erie, 68⅞; Old Southern, 84¼; Ohio & Mississippi, 31¼; Merchants Union Express, 31⅜; Western Union Telegraph, 38¼. Mining Shares—Corydon, 28; Quartz Hill, 90; Quicksilver, 32.

—The present amount of coin in the Treasury, which the Government can consider properly its own, is about $60,000,000, as will appear from the following statement:

Coin on hand May 1		$106,900,658
Coin certificates	$19,357,900
Coin certificates due May 1	27,000,000
		46,357,900
Net total owned by Government		$60,751,658

On April 1, the net gold balance owned by the Government stood thus:

Total coin in Treasury	$99,279,619
Less coin certificates	17,742,060
	$81,537,557

Thus, the amount of coin owned by the Treasury is now $21,000,000 less than on April 1. On the 1st of July, about $25,000,000 of gold interest becomes payable; and it is quite probable that during the interval the House may appropriate $7,000,000 for the Aliaska purchase, in which event the appropriations of gold out of the Treasury balance within the next two months would be $32,000,000.

The customs revenue during the interval would probable amount to $25,000,000; so that, two months since, the amount of coin owned by the Government is likely to be reduced to $53,000,000. What may be the effect of the consequent large addition to the amount of gold upon the market remains to be seen.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, May 9, 1868.

The general markets have been fairly active and very firm throughout the past week, and compared with last week, prices, generally are higher. Grain has been considerable excited, under the influence of the advices from Chicago, and Corn, Rye and Wheat are higher, and an advance was also established on Flour. Yesterday, however, there was a slight reaction in Chicago, and should it hold out for a day or two, we may look for a corresponding result here. Country produce is scarce and firm, and Butter, which early in the week, was a little weak and lower, is again tending upward in consequence of diminished arrivals. Provision market firm but unchanged, and the same remarks will apply to Groceries.

APPLES—Green Apples are firm and scarce but unchanged; we continue to quote at $6 to $7 per bbl.

POTATOES—Firm and in limited supply. Peach Blows may be quoted at $1,50 per bushel, and prime Jersey Sweets, $8,50 to $9 per bbl.

BUTTER—Is in better demand, and with a very light supply and limited receipts, the market may be quoted firm at 35 to 40c for prime to choice Roll.

EGGS—In good supply, but under the influence of a steady demand, prices are well sustained—20c.

HAY—Wagon Hay is being sold at $20 to $27 per ton. Sales of 80 tons baled on wharf at $22.

MILL FEED—Sale of 1 car Middlings at $2,20. The last sale of Bran reported was at $1,70. Stocks light.

GRAIN—Winter Wheat is scarce and firm, and in good milling demand. We continue to quote prime Winter Red at $2,70 to $2,75, and 5 to 8c higher for White. Sale of 500 bushels No. 1 Spring at $2,60. Corn is firm, with sales of 600 bushels Ear at $1,12, and 300 bushels Shelled Corn at same figure. Oats firm but unchanged; 80c on wharf and track, and 83 to 85c; in store. Rye is scarce and firm at $2 to $2,10. No Barley in market, and the demand is light, most of the malsters having suspended until the new crop comes in.

SEEDS—For Clover and Timothy Seeds there is absolutely no inquiry. There is considerable inquiry for Flaxseed, but there is none to be had DRIED FRUIT—Peaches firm, and prices have still further advanced; we now quote at 13½ to 14c for halves. Apples quiet and unchanged at 7 to 7½c.

HOMINY—Is quiet and unchanged; sales in a regular way at $6,25 per bbl.

FLOUR—The Flour market has been considerably excited during the past week, though it has somewhat subsided, owing to a slight reaction in Chicago. There is a fair demand, but the supply is fully equal to it, the arrivals during the past two or three days having been unusually large. We continue to quote at $11 to $11,75 for Spring Wheat; $12,00 to $12,75 for Winter Wheat, and $14 to $16 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is firm at $10, and some houses contemplate putting it up to $10,50.

LARD OIL—Is firm but unchanged; we continue to quote at $1,25 for No. 2, and $1,55 for No. 1.

BEANS—Scarce and in good demand but unchanged at $4,50 to $5 per bushel, as to quality.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm, with a regular jobbing demand but unchanged; 14½c for Shoulders; 17c to 19c for Ribbed and Clear Sides; 20c to 21c for Plain and Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, 20c, in tierces, and 21c, in kegs. Mess Pork, $30 to $30,50.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, May 9, 1868.

CRUDE—The market has been quite active during the past week, the sales, in the aggregate, being larger, probably, than during any preceding week this season, though, compared with the early part of the week, prices, especialiy for immediate deliveries, are off fully a cent. Spot oil, for instance, which during the early part of the week, sold readily at 12c, with one or two exceptional sales at 12⅛c, is down to 11c; to-day, however, there appeared to be a little stronger feeling than there was on Friday, and sellers were not as numerous, though buyers were not very anxious. The sales were 2,000 bbls spot at 11c; two lots of one thousand each to be delivered on this water, at 11c; 4,000 first and second water at 11c; and—last evening—10,000 bbls, seller's option, all the year, at 10½c. The last lot of oil was bought on speculation, we presume, by some St. Louis parties, and we hope that the operation will turh out a good one, though the chances are about as good one way as the other. The river is again in fine navigable condition, and we may have heavy arrivals during the next few days; it should be borne in mind, however, that the great proportion of the oil to arrive will be put in on old contracts, so that the amount of oil really to be thrown on the market will not be as large as many have been led to suppose.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil has been quite active this week, the sales, in the aggregate, being larger than during any preceeding week this season, but, compared with the early part of the week, prices are a shade lower. We can report sales of 1,500 each fol June and July, on private terms; 500 each from August to November at 31c; 2,000 bbls for the last half of May at 30c; two lots of 5000 each for same delivery at 30c; 1,500 for June and July at 29½c, and 500 for July, buyer's option, at 30c. All the year, buyer's option, is quoted 32½c, the last sale reported being at that figure.

BENZINE—Sale of 1,000 bbls for August, seller's option, at 15½c. Sale yeeterday of 200 bbls Residuum at $2 per bbl.

ARRIVALS—The following are the arrivals of oil by river and rail:

New York Dry Goods Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 9.—The weather has at length brightened up and certain styles of cotton goods have been reduced so low as to give some stimulus to trade, yet the market is by no means active or in a healthy condition. Atlantic heavy brown Sheetings were reduced to-day one-half cent per yard, and so have Pacific extra heavy sheetings; the former is now selling at 17½c, and the latter at 17c. In other classes of goods there is no important change. In woolens pretty good made fabrics in fancy mixtures, double and twist, are selling at 65ca$1, which is far below the cost of production. Cotton bags continue in active request and firm, being held at 55c for Stark.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

The Lutheran General Synod.

The General Synod of the Lutheran Church in the United States convened in the First Lutheran Church of Harrisburg at nine o'clock May 7th. About three hundred ministers and laymen were in attendance at the opening exercises, besides a very large number of our citizens. The General Synod is looked upon as the American branch of the Lutheran family, and is characterized by its liberality in non-essentials, confining its members to no prescribed form of worship, but allowing each congregation to manage its affairs in such a manner as will be most conducive to its interests, spiritual as well as temporal. The following twenty-one Synods are fully represented by clergymen and lay delegates, viz:

Allegheny, Central Pennsylvania, Eastern Pennsylvania, Western Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, Susquehanna, Central Illinois, Northern Illinois, Southern Illinois, Northern Indiana, Olive Branch of Indiana, Iowa, East Ohio, Miami, of Ohio, Wittenburg, of Ohio, Maryland, Melancthon, of Maryland, New Jersey New York, Frankean, of New York, Hartwick, of New York.

The General Synod convened at nine o'clock, with the customary religious exercises, the sermon being preached by Rev. Dr. Brown, of Gettysburg.

The General Synod then proceeded to organize, Rev. Mr. Brown acting as President, and Rev. Mr. Sheeley as Secretary pro tem. The chairman of each delegation presented the credentials, and the delegates took their seats as the Synods were called.

Dr. Pohlman, when the Synod of New York was called, explained his position, and the reason of the separation of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of New York from the Evangelical Ministerium, and presented to the Synod seven copies of the historical statement of the Evangelical Synod of New York, and of the causes which led to its organization, and seven copies of the proceedings of the Convention and minutes of the first session of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of New York, which were received.

Dr. Harkey, of the Snvod of Illinois, stated that they were in the same position of that of New York. There was a division in that Synod on account of the desire of a portion to remain in connection with the General Synod.

Objection was made to the enrollment of the delegates of the Pittsburgh Synod. Laid over until after the other Synods were called.

A motion was made and seconded that the rules be suspended in the case of the New York Synod. It was then moved that the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of New York, and the Synod of Central Illinois, be enrolled in the order in which they appear.

Pending the discussion of the enrollment of the Pittsburgh Synod, a motion was made and carried to adjourn.

The Synod re-assembled at 2 o'clock.

The case of the Pittsburgh delegation was then taken up. The Chair had decided that the credentials were valid. An appeal was taken from the decision of the Chair, by Dr. C. Martin, who stated at length his reasons for so doing.

After considerable debate, the decision of the Chair was unanimously sustained, and the credentials were received.

The Synod then proceeded to elect officers to serve for the ensuing two years, resulting in the choice of Rev. Dr. Pohlman for President, Rev. Mathias Sheeleigh for Secretary and A. Ockerhausen for Treasurer. New Synods were then received, the minutes of the last meeting of the Synod read, a Committee on Devotional Exercises appointed and the minutes of the different Synods were handed in. A special order was announced as follows:

The afternoon of each day of the session, with the exception of the day on which the Synod is organized, and Saturday afternoon, shall be set apart for the business of the several benevolent societies connected with the Church.

A motion was made by Rev. Dr. Albert that the Synod pay a visit to the Governor in a body on Saturday afternoon, between four and five o'clock, which was agreed to.

On motion, adjourned.

FRIDAY, May 8.—Synod was opened with the usual religious exercises, after which the regular Committees were announced as follows:

On the State of the Church—Rev. M. Valentine, D.D., Rev. C. A. Stork, Rev. C. H. Lochman, D.D., Rev. W. N. Scholl, Rev. George S. Neff, Rev. P. Sheeder, Rev. J. Swartz, Rev. J. W. Goodlin, Rev. A. R. The Committee on the application for admission from the Susquehanna Synod, reported a recommendation be received, on the condition that at its next meeting it adopt definitely the doctrinal basis or constitution of the General Synod. The report was adopted.

All Lutheran ministers present, who are not members of this body, and other members of the evangelical Lutheran churches, were invited to take seats as visitors, and their names be entered on the minutes.

The Committee on the Revision of the Constitution reported amendments which were ordered to be printed and made the order of the day for Tuesday.

A resolution was adopted, that a committee of three be appointed to take action on the propriety and feasibility, of publishing a German paper on the basis of the General Synod, which was afterwards amended that a committee of three be appointed to report a plan for the publication of a German paper.

The President read a communication from the Young Men's Christian Association, inviting the members of the Synod to attend the daily morning prayer meetings.

The Committee to revise the Hymn Book reported progress, recommending the continuance of the Committee, or the appointment of another, and, in case of the continuance, that another member be appointed; that the work of the Committee, when completed, be referred to a Committee consisting of the President and Secretary and three additional members, to be chosen by the Synod, whose approval shall be necessary.

The report was adopted, and pending the election of another member, the Synod adjourned.

The Parent Educational Society met in the afternoon, but no report was presented, owing to the death of the Chairman.

The Home Missionary Society also met and elected officers for the ensuing year, Rev. S. W. Harkey D. D., being President. The report of the Executive Committee showed the amount of funds received for the past two years to date from Synods in connection with the Society, $4,765 96, as follows:

From the Penn'a Synods	$1,510 61
" " Synods of Ohio	1,883 27
" " Synods of Maryland	724 08
" " Synods of Indiana	498 00
" " Synods of New York	150 00
" individuals and individual churches	3,491 81
Sum total	$8,257 77

The receipts of the preceding two years were $5,700 93, showing an excess during the past two years of $2,526 84. The number of missionaries supported by the society is eleven. The number is small, but the fields they occupy are of great relative importance.

Statistics of Churches receiving Missionary aid.—Number received by baptism, 207; number received by certificate, 251; number of communicants, 1,579; Sunday schools, 24; Sunday school scholars, 2,035; number of churches built, 2. These figures, however, do, by no means, express the progress made in the Home Mission work.

Needs of the Society.—In addition to the support necessary to sustain and fully establish speedily the important posts, the committee would present the following urgent cases: Lawrence, Kansas, Atchison, Kansas, Newton, Jasper county, Iowa.

The committee recommend that some plan be adopted by which, when a missionary is sent to important fields, he can be immediately aided in procuring a lot, and, if need be, erecting a place of worship. It was also voted to remove the Executive Committee to York.

THE "Mitrailleuse," a new gun, partly invented by the Emperor Napoleon, is said to resemble a coffee-mill half a yard high, with an opening half a yard in diameter. Into this the cartouches are shovelled, and by means of a wheel turned by a handle, the soldier who works the instrument lets a single cartouche fall into each of the eight barrels of the "mitrailleuse." These barrels are about a yard in length. As the trigger falls on the cap it closes the barrels, the shots are fired, and the wheel in turning re-opens the barrels, re-cocks the trigger, and lets other cartouches assume the places of those discharged. This instrument, worked by a single soldier, discharges from fifty to fifty-five shots a minute, and is effective at one thousand seven hundred yards. The name is evidently derived from the French word "mitraille," meaning a shower of grape shot.

A SNAKE IN THE BED.—The Lafayette (Ind.) Journal, says: An old gentleman named Swiger, lately put himself up a shanty, on the hill oppposite the city, on the other side of the Wabash. The other night while lying in bed propped up with pillows suffering from an attack of the asthmaa, he accidently put his hand outside the bedclothes. when it touched something moist and cold. He instinctly threw it off upon the floor. His wife arose and lighted a lamp, when she discovered a snake of the species generally known as the blue racer in the room. His snakeship was soon dispatched, and it was found to be nearly five feet in length. It is supposed that it got in to the room through the chinks in the wall, and was, when discovered, looking for a warm place to sleep.

THE FREYVOGLE CASE.

The Coroner's Inquest Concluded—Verdict of the Jury—The Mystery Unexplained.

The jury empannelled by Coroner Clawson in the case of Anthony Freyvogle, assembled at the Coroner's office at one o'clock Saturday afternoon, and after hearing the following testimony completed their labors by rendering a verdict:

John Kueschler, sworn—Was acquainted with Mr. Freyvogle. Saw him last on a Tuesday in January last. He came into my barber shop between nine and ten o'clock in the morning. My shep is on Market alley. A milkman was with him, and Freyvogle told the barber to hurry, as he wanted to go away with the milkman. The milkman said he wanted Freyvogle to go with him to pay for a cow he had bought the day before. Never saw Freyvogle after that. The two men left the shop together, saying they were going to Alexander Murray's. Think this man (Lutey) is the man who was with Freyvogle. One of the hands said afterwards that the same milkman came in next morning and got shaved. Noticed nothing particular about Freyvogle. Am positive that it was between nine and ten o'clock in the morning that the two men were in my shop.

Casper Lutey, sworn.—Am a dairyman. Came to town on Tuesday, January 21st, between ten and eleven o'clock in the morning, having left McKeesport at nine. Came to pay a man fifty dollars that I owed for a cow. Went from the station to the McKeesport House, and got a glass of beer. Went then to Reineman's and got my dinner. Then went to the Live Oak, and between three and four o'clock went to the barber shop. Met Freyvogle there. He and I had been good friends for sixteen years. He had just been shaved. I asked him to tell me where to find David Hare. He said he knew the man. I told him I owed fifty dollars to Hare, and wanted to find him and pay him. Freyvogle and I went to a saloon in the Diamond to find Hare. Took a glass of wine, but did not find Hare. Went out and went to Roth's. Drank again. Talked about my dead wife, and drank again. Another man came in, and we all drank. This man asked me to go over to his saloon, and we went, there we drank again. The man owed me ten dollars, and I told Freyvogle that I was going to get the money, under pretense that I owed it to him. Got the money in that way, and I treated the crowd. Freyvogle wanted to go to the river bank to get oysters, but went with me to Reineman's, on Wood street. Perhaps he wanted to go to the Bank Exchange, but I understood him the other way. He ordered the oysters at Reineman's, but neglected to pay for them, I paid. We went out, and I told him he was a little drunk. He walked all right, though. We went to the Walz saloon. I had asked him to go home in the street car when we came out of Reineman's. At Walz's he drank one glass of beer. I urged him to go home, but he said he was all right. I left him after awhile, shaking hands with him. He said all the while he was all right. I went to Seidle's and staid awhile. It was between six and seven o'clock that I left Walz's. I never saw him afterwards. Noticed that he was different in his mind that night from what I ever saw him before. I have seen him many a time as drunk as he was that night; he was only a little tight. Saw no money in his possession, except when he paid for two cigars. Saw his watch, but no pocket-book. I went to Trimble's to stay all night, and went to the show, where I staid till eleven o'clock.

Frank Freavogle, sworn—On the morning of Wednesday I went to the store and inquired for my father, who had not been home the night before. The cutter told me that between three and four o'clock Tuesday afternoon he had started out to get shaved.

Louis Hagel, sworn—A few days after Mr. Freyvogle's disappearance, Nathan Benrhardt told me that he had seen Mr. Freyvogle in company with a milkman, whose name he did not know; he came to me because I was Freyvogle's nephew; Rudolph Kahler afterwards told me that he had seen Freyvogle at the Live Oak Hotel in company with a milkman; Lutey came to call on my wife while Kahler was there; neither spoke, but after Lutey had gone Kahler said that was the man, and he (Lutey) did not dare look him in the face; Bernhardt and Kahler said that they saw the two men together between ten and eleven o'clock on Tuesday night.

Henry Freyvogle, recalled—After the disappearance of my uncle, I went with Lutey to Trimble's and was identified by both old Mr. Trimble and his son, as having been there on Tuesday night to the show, and also as having spent the night in the house; they did not know of his having been out at all after the performance was over; officers Woodbridge and McMullen also identified him as having been there that night; never knew of any ill feeling whatever between Freyvogle and Lutey.

The testimony here closed and the jury returned the following verdict: "That Anthony Freyvogle came to his death from causes, and at a time and place, unknown to the jury."

Notwithstanding every effort has been made and all available means employed to unravel the mystery connected with this unfortunate affair, not a thing has transpired to throw the least particle of light upon it. His friends and the public are left in as much darkness regarding the manner of his death as upon the day of his disappearance.

A Mystery—Probable Suicide.

A mysterious affair occurred about seven o'clock p. m., yesterday, on the Hand street bridge, which for a time created considerable excitement in that locality. At the time mentioned, three young ladies were crossing the bridge and had proceeded about one-fourth of the way over, when they were met by a man with neither coat or hat on, who conducted himself in such a manner as to lead them to believe him deranged. He caught hold of one of the ladies, who screamed and ran, when he turned and ran the other way. The ladies then came back to this end of the bridge, and informed a policeman of what had occurred. The officer went in search of the man, and saw him climb over the railing of the bridge at the second pier, and on arriving at the pier, heard a splash in the water below, but could not see the object of his search. Who he was or what became of him is unknown.

Drowned—Coroner's Inquest.

Leander Lee, a colored lad about eleven years of age, living with General George W. Cass, at Osborne Station, on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, was drowned in an artificial pond on the premises, on Friday afternoon. The family went away during the afternoon, leaving the boy alone at the house. Shortly afterwards a lady saw the little fellow going toward the pond with a board on his shoulder. When the family returned the lad was missing, and on search being made his clothes were found on the bank of the pond. The water was drawn from the pond, and the naked body of the drowned boy was found. He had probably gone in to bathe, and finding himself unable to get out, was drowned. Coroner Clawson held an inquest Saturday morning, and a verdict of accidental drowning was rendered.

SUPPOSED MURDER.

Sudden Death of a Colored Woman—Coroner's Inquest—The Husband Suspected of Administering Poison to his Wife—He is Arrested and Committed to Jail.

A sudden death occurred Saturday morning at No. 211 Wylie street, in the Sixth ward, the circumstance of which were such as to make an inquest advisable. The victim was a Mrs. Lane, wife of Lewis Lane, residing in the basement of 211 Wylie street, who, it appears, had been in good health until Friday evening, prior to her death, when she was taken suddenly ill and continued to grow worse until her death, which occurred Saturday morning about seven o'clock. Coroner Clawson was sent for, but being absent on official business, Alderman Butler, of the Sixth ward, proceeded to the house to hold an inquest. Before the jury was impannelled, however, information was made against the husband, charging him with maltreating his wife, upon which a warrant was issued, the accused arrested and committed. A jury was then impannelled and sworn, when the following testimony was taken:

Rachel King, sworn—Live in the upper part of the house, in a room over the one occupied by the deceased. The deceased informed me the day before she died that Lewis Lane, her husband, had bought her a bottle of whisky and she drank it. She was sick at that time.

Mary Kenny, sworn—Testimony of this witness corroborated that of the former.

Grace Allis, sworn—Live in an adjoining house; the deceased told me that her husband had given her whisky.

Annie Henderson, Eliza Jones, Mary Leonard, Elizabeth Rea and Emaline Hall were sworn and testified in substance to what the first witness had sworn to.

Fleming Kenny, sworn—Live in same house with deceased; occupy a room over that occupied by Lane; heard deceased ask her husband to go for a doctor the night previous to her death, and Lane refused to go.

Drs. G. H. McNary and Alex. Black, who heard the testimony, were then sworn and stated that they could tell nothing about the case without making a post mortem examination.

The testimony was here concluded and the inquest adjourned to meet at Alderman Lindsay's office, Sixth ward, Saturday, May 16th, at 9 o'clock A. M.

Drs. McNary and Black removed the stomach of deceased, and it will be placed in the hands of an analytical chemist for examination.

Information was then made before the Alderman charging Lane with murder, upon which a commitment was lodged against him for a hearing on Saturday, the 16th inst., after the inquest is concluded.

After the prisoner had been delivered into the hands of Mr. Smith, Assistant Warden, and was being conducted from the jail office to the prison, he suddenly drew his hand from his coat pocket and threw a bottle containing some liquid into the fire. The bottle was broken into fragments, but a portion of the liquid splashed against the fire-wall of the grate. A substance resembling arsenic adhered to the brick and some pieces of the bottle were taken out. The accused said the bottle contained medicine which he had been taking, and that he had thrown it in the fire besause he not wish to be troubled with it. The pieces of the bottle will also be given to a chemist for examination. A leather satchel, belonging to the accused, was searched in the jail office and found to contain seven or eight small bottles with drugs of different kinds, but none of them were labelled. Lane is apparently about forty-five years of age, and the deceased, it is said, was his sixth wife. The accused, we are informed, has served a term in the Penitentiary, having been sent there from Washington county, where he was convicted of arson. It is alleged that he attempted to poison one of his wives, but failing in the attempt, put her in a room up stairs, locked the door and set fire to the bed. The wife made her escape through a window, but the house was burned.

A Strange Case.

Saturday morning a Mr. Higgins, accompanied by his wife and child, arrived in the city from New Orleans en route for New York. They came by way of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, and put up at the Union Depot Hotel, intending to take the evening train east. Having several hours time to spare Mr. H. concluded to see the city and left his wife at twelve o'clock, expecting to be absent two or three hours. He had in his possession when he left her two railroad tickets from New Orleans to New York, two baggage checks and $40 in money. About nine o'clock Saturday night Higgins was found by a policeman on the Monongahela wharf, in a very peculiar state of mind. He was taken in charge and conducted to the lock-up, where he acted precisely like a man with mania potu. Yesterday morning he was committed by the Mayor for five days in default of a fine of five dollars, and shortly after the officer had taken him to jail his wife made her appearance at the office and inquired for him. She stated that he was not in the habit of drinking to excess, and that he had not, to her knowledge, drank anything since leaving New Orleans. He had evidently fallen into bad company during the afternoon and evening, as his railroad tickets and money were gone; the baggage checks, however, were found in his pocket, when examined at the lock-up. He was released yesterday evening and left for New York with his wife and child this morning. His mind was still unsteady when he was released from jail.

The Other Side.

We published in the GAZETTE an account of the arrest of Alderman Bailie, of the First ward, Allegheny, charged with misdemeanor in office, before Alderman McMasters, on oath of Mr. Powell. The case, like many others, appears to have two sides, and having given one we publish the other. The Alderman states that he gave two judgments against Powell, the first being against M. Powell and wife, and the second against M. Powell & Co. The first judgment was satisfied and a receipt given. On the second an execution attachment was issued, and the money has not yet been paid. The Alderman asserts that the prosecution is malicious, and that he can fully establish the allegation.

A Misunderstanding.—John Minehan, a few days since, purchased a cart from John Barry (not the constable) and when he came to settle for it a dispute arose between them about the price. One said it was $50 and the other said it was $55. They quarreled some time, but being unable to come to any terms, decided to settle the matter in another way, and accordingly stripped for a fight. Several rounds were fought when the parties were separated. Both parties then went before Alderman Strain Saturday and made information against each other for assault and battery. They were held for a hearing.

Leg Broken.—James Wenzel, residing with his parents on Harmony street, East Birmingham, had his leg broken below the knee on Friday. He had been attending school which had just been dismissed, and when crossing Carson street at Harmony he was run over by a carriage, both wheels passing over his leg. He was carried to his home where the fracture was reduced.

Larceny of a Wheelbarrow.—Francis Flood, it appears, lost a wheelbarrow last month, which he alleges was stolen by John Spence, and Saturday he made information before Alderman McMasters, charging Spence with larceny. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Suicide—A Man Kills Himself with a Pocket Knife—Coroner's Inquest.

A case of suicide occurred about eleven o'clock yesterday, at the house of Thomas Roberts, on Wilkins street, in the Ninth ward, which was doubtless the result of idleness and whisky. The unfortunate creature who hurried himself into eternity was George Booth, a smelter, lately employed at the Steel Works, in the Ninth ward, from whence he was discharged, in consequence of intemperate habits, some two weeks ago. Since that time he had been out of employment, and it appears drank to excess, and on Friday evening, we are informed, evinced signs of mania potu. He called at the house of Mr. Roberts yesterday, about ten o'clock, and appeared to be perfectly sound in mind. He had been talking some time with Mr. R., who was sitting on the door step beside him, and had taken his boot off to examine a corn when Mr. Samuel Young, his late employer, came into the yard. Shortly after Mr. Y's. arrival Booth asked him for his knife, saying he wished to cut a corn off his foot. The knife was handed to him and he cut at the corn a few moments and straightening up struck himself in the breast twice with the knife. The first cut struck the fourth rib, but the second, which followed it almost immediately, passed between the fourth and fifth rib and penetrated the heart, causing death almost instantly. Mr. Roberts, who was sitting beside him, did not observe him stab himself, but Mr. Young, who was standing in front of him saw him make the second stroke and called to Mr. R., who seized his arm, but he expired almost instantly. Coroner Clawson was notified and held an inquest on the body yesterday afternoon, when, after examining several witnesses, the jury returned the following verdict: "That the deceased came to his death, in the Ninth ward, Pittsburgh, on the 10th day of May, 1868, from a wound inflicted by a pen-knife in his own hands."

The deceased was twenty-four years of age and leaves a wife and two small children in destitute circumstances.

State Sunday School Convention—Committee of Arrangments.

At a recent meeting of the Allegheny County Sunday School Association, the following Committees were appointed to make arrangements for the State Sunday School Convention, which will be held in this city Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday June 2d, 3d and 4th.

Committee on Programme of Exercises.—Rev. Dr. Douglass, Rev. William H. Locke, David Robinson, Rev. Alfred Taylor.

Committee on Railroads.—W. O. Hughart, W. Bakewell.

Committee on Finance.—William Frew, William Thaw, Thomas Bakewell

Committee on Entertainment—J. H. Hillerman, O. McClintock, W. S. Stevenson, Thomas Dickson, W. P. Weyman, W. J. Jackson, with power to add one from each church.

It is desirable that the Committee on Entertainment should be filled up at once. Pastors of the several churches in the two cities and boroughs will confer a favor on the Chairman, J. H. Hillerman, by sending the name of some person to act on this important Committee, to No. 75 Wood street.

A Missing Man.

Joseph M. Wilson some time since made information before Alderman McMasters, charging a young man of this city, who is prominently connected, with obtaining money under false pretence. He alleged that the accused obtained the sum of five hundred and thirty dollars from the firm of Little & Co., real estate brokers, of which he (Wilson) is a member, by representing that he owned a house on Third street, valued at $12,000. Shortly after obtaining the money he left the city and went to Baltimore. A requisition was obtained and a few days since Mr. Wilson, accompanied by an officer, proceeded to Baltimore to arrest him, but on their arrival they found that he had left. The papers for his arrest were left in the hands of the Sheriff of Baltimore county. It is rumored that the young gentleman is connected with several heavy forgeries in this city, for which he will be prosecuted on his return.

Young Men's Bible Society—Election of Officers.

At a recent meeting of the Young Men's Bible Society, held in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian Church, the following named gentlemen were elected officers of the society: President, R. C. Miller; Vice Presidents, W. H. Kincaid and H. W. Strickler; Corresponding Secretary, Thos. H. Lane; Recording Secretary, B. F. Kennedy; Treasurer, John F. Loy; Librarian, Dr. McKinney; Executive Committee, Geo. T. Bryan, William Wilkinson, J. McQuistion, James J. Carlisle, and E. W. Morrow.

Larceny.

Alex. Graham made information before the Mayor Saturday, charging George Arnesburg and John Stein with larceny. He alleges that he left a market basket and a two gallon stone jug on the platform of a Pittsburgh and Birmingham car, and went into a saloon to get a drink of beer, and when he came out the basket, and the defendants, who were standing near where he left it, were gone. The parties were arrested and held to bail for their appearance at Court, in default of which Stein was committed to jail.

The Police Parade.

The parade of the police force, Saturday, was a complete success. The uniforms are neat, and a decided improvement to the appearance of the men. There were one hundred in the ranks, and a finer body of men of that number are seldom collected together. The parade formed at the Mayor's office at two o'clock, and followed the route published Saturday. The citizens already see the advantage of the uniforms, and many of them will, doubtless before a year has passed, wonder why they were not adopted years ago.

Coroner's Inquest.—Coroner Clawson was called upon yesterday to hold an inquest on the body of Mary E. Leaver, who died suddenly in the Ninth Ward on Saturday. The deceased it appears had been unwell since January last but not confined to her bed, and a few moments before her death was walking about the house. She was taken suddenly ill and sat down in a chair, when she expired in a few moments, Dr. Rex who had been attending her previous to her death stated that she died of lung disease. The jury returned a verdict of "death from natural causes." The deceased was twenty-seven years of age, and was the mother of one child.

Fraud.—E. Deckenbaugh made information before Alderman Strain Saturday, charging William Hensel with fraud. He alleges that Hensel was indebted to him in the sum of $114.60, and that he has disposed of his personal property and is about to leave the State in order to defraud his creditors. The accused resides at Oakland, and it appears purchased a wagon from the prosecutor, who is a wagon maker, doing business near the point. Hensel was arrested and held to bail for a hearing.

Assault and Battery.—Armstead W. Washington made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging George W. Anderson with assault and battery. The parties are colored men and professional whitewashers. They met on Webster street yesterday morning, when a quarrel ensued relative to their business, and it is alleged by Washington that Anderson struck him with his fist and knocked him down. Officer McCready arrested Anderson, and he was held to bail for a hearing.

Amusements.

BURNELL'S MUSEUM.—This home institution in Franklin Hall has been doing a full share of business during the past week, and the proprietor has made many interesting additions to the collection of live animals and general curiosities. It is eminently worthy a visit.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—Manager Aims is drawing very good houses at the Old Theatre and continues to add new attractions each night. Ben Wheeler, and the famous Barlow Brothers will make their appearance this evening, a rare bill being offered. For versatile performances, embracing wit, humor, fun and frolic, the old Drury surpasses any place in the city.

BARNUM'S MUSEUM.—This really praiseworthy entertainment was visited by thousands last week at Masonic Hall, who expressed satisfaction and delight with the great living curiosities on exhibition. The chief attractions perhaps are the pretty Circassian women. They are both very beautiful, highly talented and vivacious. They are said to be the only females of this race ever before seen in America. Zebeide Luti, or the "Lady of Beauty," as she is termed in the flowery language of the East, was brought from Kislaer, Circassia. Zaiumma Agra, "The Star of the East," whose marvellous beauty and captivating manners make her a universal favorite, was brought from Constantinople, and was presented at many of the European courts previous to her arrival in this country. Miss Powers, the Kentucky fat girl, is a decided curiosity, weighing nearly six hundred pounds. She is very pleasing in her manners, a good talker, and takes much pleasure in seeing and conversing with everybody. The Nova Scotia Giantess, Anna Swann, is a great curiosity. She is over eight feet tall and before her everybody dwarfs into mere pigmies. She is proportionately built and very graceful and easy in her manner. She wears a glove one foot from wrist to finger tip, and a shoe half a yard long. Think of this, ye little pieces of femininity. Willie Wallace, the little dwarf, less in size than Tom Thumb, and the "biggest baby in christendom," are also great curiosities in their way. The Museum will be open every afternoon and night, and everybody should attend.

OPERA HOUSE.—Edwin Adams, the sterling actor, closed a very unprofitable engagement at this rapidly decaying establishment, on Saturday night, appearing before one of the smallest of the small audiences which have graced the auditorium during the past two weeks. We regret that he had not better success; but he may recieve warmer greeting next season when he will probably appear under Hess-like auspices, at the Academy. He received miserable support from the stock company throughout his engagement. With few honorable exceptions, the members of that society of histrionic artists should be peddling garden truck or pea-nuts rather than catering to the amusement and entertainment of the patrons of the drama. To-night legs will take the place of the "legitimate" and a ballet season will be inaugurated. This will undoubtedly draw crowds of naughty men, but respectable ladies need no advice regarding certain lines of propriety to be observed at all times. We wish the management the large measure of success the enterprise is deserving, and hope the stock company may embrace the brief respite from their arduous labors, so much needed after the hearty support awarded their professional brethren, Forest and Adams,—and read up a little ahead so as to astonish the prompter when they next appear on the boards.

Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway—Change of Time.

The new schedule adopted by the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company for the summer season goes into effect to-day. Trains will hereafter arrive and depart as follows: The Erie and Youngstown Express will leave at 7:28 A. M.; the Cleveland and Wheeling Mail, 6:13 A. M.; the Cleveland and Wheeling Express, 1:43 P. M.; the Chicago Express, 1:58 P. M.; the Wheeling and Erie Express, 4:48 P. M.; the Leetsdale Accommodation will leave Allegheny at 11:58 A. M.; the Rochester Accommodation, 2:23 P. M.; the Leetsdale Accommodation, 4:13 P. M. A Chicago Express leaves daily at 1:58 P. M., and arrives daily at 11:23 A. M. The Chicago Express will arrive at 2:23 A. M., the Cleveland and Wheeling Express at 4:38 P. M., the Chicago Express at 4:23. The Wellsville Accommodation will reach Allegheny at 8:57 A. M., the Leetsdale Accommodation at 1:08 P. M., and the Leetsdale Accommodation at 4:53 P. M.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following deeds were filed of record, before H. Snively, Esq., Recorder, May 8th, 1868:

William Ward to Elizabeth M. Wilson, April 22, 1868; lot on Bedford street, in Shaffer's plan, 8th ward, Pittsburgh.....$200

Joseph Laurent, trustee, to Fred. Riefer, April 16, 1868; lots 128, 129 and 130, in the plan of East Liberty "Bauvercin," 262 by 144 feet.....$228

Frank Husack to August Ammon, May 4, 1868; lot on Joseph st., East Birmingham, 25 by 60 feet.....$1,000

Jacob H. Miller to Louis Renner, March 1, 1868; lot on Washington street, Birmingham, 20 by 72 feet, with buildings.....$3,000

Louis Renner to Christ. Kestner, May 7, 1868; the last above described lot.....$3,700

F. K. Duff to the "Rector, Warden and Vestrymen of St. Paul's Church, Lawrenceville," April 30, 1868; lots Nos. 74 and 75, in Wittles' plan in the Seventh ward, Pittsburgh, on Roberts street, 40 by 100 feet.....$650

William Holmes to Gustave A. Thumm, May 1, 1868; lot No. 14 in Wilkins' plan in the Eighth ward, on Charlotte street, 22 by 191 feet; lot on Boquette street, in the above plan, 114 by 226 feet, with buildings.....$12,000

James Prescott to William Standing, Nov. 2, 1863; tract of land in Ross township, containing 20 acres and 108 perches.

Surety of the Peace.—J. Ludewig made information before Alderman Strain, on Saturday, against James Richey, for a breach of the peace. It appears that the parties are neighbors, residing at Glendale Station, P. Ft. W. & C. R. R., and a few days since a difficulty occurred at the Station House in reference to a bag of oats which the prosecutor says was carried away from the station without his permission. During the difficulty it is alleged that Richey threatened to kill the prosecutor and called him abusive names. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Forestalling.—Officer Dressler, market constable, on Saturday, arrested Henry Breckerman, Thomas Rodgers and Mat Peterson, grocers, doing business in the Fifth ward, on a charge of forestalling the market. They were taken before Alderman Humbert for a hearing, after which they were discharged on payment of costs. It did not appear that they had exposed or offered the articles for sale, which had been purchased, although the quantity purchased was such as to warrant the constable in making the arrest.

Mayor Blackmore had 551 votes against Mayor Drum's 549 in the contest at the Allegheny Fair on Saturday night, for the massive gold headed cane. The fight is spirited but we will wager on this side of the water carrying it away from our sister city. The Fair will close on Thursday night next, and all should attend the few remaining evenings. It is held in the Hall adjoining the House of Industry, Washington street.

On Dit.—It is said that Manager Hess will visit our city shortly with a view to reopening the Academy of Music as a temple of the drama. He will be warmly supported, as our city now feels the want of a first-class theatre.

There is but one Grant Club in the city. Why do not some of the other wards follow the good example of the old Second and organize for the opening of the campaign?

There was a large attendance at the reopening of Christ's Church, (Episcopal,) Allegheny, yesterday. The services were of a very interesting character.

Killed Her Neighbor's Chicken.—Margaret Wells and Joanna Becket reside in adjoining houses in Pitt township, and it appears each have a number of chickens. A few days since Mrs. Becket killed a chicken, which Mrs. Welles claimed, and when Mrs. S. informed her neighbor that she had killed the wrong chicken, the prosecutor alleges that Mrs. B. threw the chicken over the fence at her, called her abusive names, and threatened to do her bodily injury. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Mrs. Becket.

Abandonment.—Mary E. Neckleff made information before Mayor Drum, Saturday, charging John Neckleff her husband, with desertion. A warrant was issued and the accused arrested in the circus, Saturday afternoon, where he was found with a female in charge. At the hearing it transpired that the accused was but eighteen years of age, and that the wife was a "woman of the town," whereupon the Mayor dismissed the case and discharged the accused.

Settled.—John Rogers made information before Alderman Thomas, Saturday, against Thomas Carr, for surety of the peace. He alleges that Carr threatened to do violence to his, the presecutor's, son. Carr was arrested and the case amicably settled, each party paying half the costs.

In the Fifth and Ninth wards and Lawrenceville drunken men were unusually numerous yesterday. We counted half a dozen alleys on Penn street where men quietly glided in the back way to obtain their beverage on the sly.

Held for Court.—Bernard Kearnes, charged, before Alderman Taylor, on oath of D. Boulton, with malicious mischief, was arrested Saturday and after a hearing, in default of bail for his appearance at Court, was committed to jail.

Selling Liquor Without License.—Wm. Haley made information before Alderman McMasters, Saturday, charging Mrs. Cady with selling liquor without license. Mrs. C. resides at No. 14 Haley's row, Pennsylvania avenue. A warrant was issued for her arrest,

Rev. Mr. Mullen, pastor of the St. Peter's Church, Allegheny, is soon to be consecrated Catholic Bishop of the diocese of Erie. The ceremony, one of the most august of the Church, will probably take place in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Committed for a Hearing.—George Verner charged on oath of G. C Rotly with obtaining goods under false pretence, was arrested on Saturday, and taken before Alderman McMasters, who committed him for a hearing.

Another Rioter Arrested.—Joseph Martin, charged, on oath of John O'Neil, with participation in the O'Neil riot, was arrested yesterday and in default of the required bail was committed to jail.

The body of Mrs. E. R. Kernan, the lady who was killed out West by accident, reported in Saturday's paper, was buried yesterday in St. Mary's Cemetery. Her funeral was largely attended.

Firemens' Association.—A meeting of the Firemens' Association will be held this evening in their hall, city building, at which a chief engineer of the fire department will be elected.

Mineral Water. Sarsaparilla and Pop have been reduced to five cents a glass. Why do not soda water dealers follow suit? Ten cents a glass is too much.

The police now present a uniform appearance. There is no truth in the rumor that Street Commissioner Hunter is to uniform his corps of street disciples.

Seminary hill. Cliff street and Second street Park are now the prominently mentioned sites for the erection of the Soldiers Monument.

The Masons and Odd Fellows, singular to say, have not disbanded. Where is the use of talk if no good fruits come therefrom?

It is estimated that three thousand people visited Troy Hill yesterday to enjoy pure air, delightful scenery and lager beer.

The contracts for the new building for the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association will be awarded to home mechanics.

The Police were judiciously stationed yesterday at the corners of prominent thoroughfares throughout the city.

Fully one thousand persons visited the Allegheny and St. Mary's cemeteries yestery, the weather being delightful.

There were scores of pickpockets here while the circuses held forth. We did not hear of any heavy losses.

U. S. Collector Volz has been inviting income tax payers to come up at once to the trough of Uncle Samuel.

Adams' engagement at the Opera House was a decided failure, so far as receipts were concerned,

The largest audience ever assembled in Pittsburgh was that at Forepaugh's on Saturday night.

The petitions for the removal of the Post-office to Liberty street are being numerously signed.

The Fourth of July will be observad in this city by a military parade. It falls on Saturday.

The crossing at the corner of Fifth and Wood streets is disgraceful to the city.

Wood street is to be Nicolson paved shortly from Fifth to Liberty.

The Allegheny market, on Saturday nights, is a great success.

The Time kept by the Central Alarm Bell is correct to a nicety.

Our markets are plentifully supplied with fresh vegetables.

The last lecture season in this city was very profitable.

"They made her a grave too cold and damp
For a soul so honest and true."

If they had been wise, the dire necessity of opening the grave for one so lovely might have been averted. Plantation Bitters, if timely used, are sure to rescue the young and lovely, the middle-aged, and the ailing, from confirmed sickness.

Almost all diseases have their beginning in some slight difficulty of the Stomach, which would eventuate in Dyspepsia, Headache, Liver Complaints, Night Sweats, Consumption, Death. Plantation Bitters will prevent these premonitory symptoms and keep the blood pure and the health good.

While they invigorate the system they enliven the mind.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—A delightful toilet article—superior to Cologne, and at half the price. NWF&F

The German Turners' Platform.

The National Convention of German Turners at Boston, previous to their final adjournment, adopted resolutions which they recommend to the consideration of the Republican National Convention. The resolutions, in substance, are: First, the reconstruction and re-admission of the late Rebel States on the basis of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution as amended, and the measures of reconstruction enacted by Congress; secondly, that justice shall be meted out to all without distinction of race or color; that security shall be given to persons and property, and that freedom of trade and freedom of conscience shall also be secured; third, that uniform qualifications shall be established in the election of members of the House of Representatives, and in the choice of the electors of the Executive officers of the Government by an amendment to the Constitution; fourth, that the payment of the national debt and interest shall be made in accordance with the promises already made by the Government; that the payment of the debt shall be gradual, so as to guard against high tariffs and excessive taxation; that there be a gradual consolidation of the different loans into one debt, with a uniform and moderate rate of interest, and that all laws or measures tending toward the recognition and assumption of the liabilities of the late Confederacy, or for granting indemnity for emancipated slaves, be opposed; fifth, that the tariff rates shall be fixed upon the equalization principle; sixth, that measures shall be adopted for the better support of the public school system and for its enlargement, especially at the South, and in this connection the Turners express the belief that compulsory measures for the attendance of children at school afford the best means to guard against the future misuse of the rights of suffrage; seventh, that there be formed a National military force, on the basis of general miltary duty, with classifications according to age; eighth, that Congress shall make such laws as will tend to encourage, to the fullest extent, European immigration, inasmuch as such immigration accrues to the benefit of the country; ninth, that the Monroe doctrine of equal protection of native born and naturalized citizens of the United States in foreign countries shall be maintained. The Turners will hold their next National Convention in Pittsburg, in May, 1870.

NATURE and history curiously approved each other's records in the case of an old elm tree cut down in Boston the other day. The town record shows that the elm was planted by vote of the town of Boston in the year 1733—that is, 134 years ago; and the annual lays or rings of the tree, which were plainly visible after its trunk had been severed, were counted to the number of 134, thus exactly corresponding with the date at which it was planted. It appears that some of the incidents of history are trustworthy.

FOR SALE.—HOBOKEN.—THE balance of those desirable Lots are now offered at private sale, and any one desirous of fine building sites would do well to make a selection. The village is located on a beautiful and healthy spot, two and a half miles from Sharpsburg, on the Western Pennsylvania Railroad, which runs through it, making it much more valuable and agreeable. Extensive preparations are now making for erecting a number of fine houses, which will prove an ornament to the town. The remainder of these Lots will be sold at very reasonable rates and on terms exceedingly easy. SILL & SHUTTERLY, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, Lawrenceville
